

18 Known Dead And 6 Missing in Minneapolis Fire

At Least 25 Taken to Hospitals in Hotel Tragedy

BODIES HUNTED

Flames Spread Rapidly; Apparently Started in Garbage Chute

Minneapolis—(AP)—Eighteen persons were known to have died, and six more were feared dead in a fire that destroyed the Marlborough apartment hotel today.

Morgue-keeper John Anderson said at 10 o'clock a. m., four hours after the fire was discovered, that 17 bodies had been brought to the morgue, and that he had a call to send the morgue ambulance to the apartment for at least one more.

Arthur Spotswood, head of the fire prevention division of the fire department, said the blaze apparently had started in a garbage chute, presumably from a lighted cigarette. He said the fire spread for hours before bursting into flame, then blew out of the chute as a "heat explosion."

One victim, identified as Mrs. Mabel Brown, 34, died in General hospital of a fractured skull. She had jumped from a third-floor window with her husband. He was reported in poor condition.

Identify 3 Victims

Anderson said three victims had been identified as Otto Franke, about 25; his sister, 16, and his mother, about 50.

The only other body identified even tentatively was that of Florence Messing, 30, who jumped to her death out of a third-floor window.

Otto Knack, 49, janitor, described an explosion which accompanied the start of the fire. The blast occurred, he said, shortly before 6 a. m., just as he opened the door of the boiler room.

"When I opened the door something tossed me back into the area-way in the basement," he said. "All the windows in the boiler room were blown out then." Flames swept through the building almost instantly, Knack added, and he had to jump out of a window after rousing his family.

Firemen found three persons dead shortly after they reached the scene about 6 a. m., but it was two hours before they were able to fight their way to the second floor, where additional bodies were found.

25 In Hospitals

At least twenty-five persons were taken to hospitals for treatment of burns and injuries sustained by jumping from windows of the 85-apartment building.

Mrs. Eloise Huson, a resident there, said she was awakened shortly before 6 a. m. by what she thought was a "terrific explosion." She said she heard cries for help, and was met by a rush of flame and smoke when she opened her door.

She escaped by dropping in her nightgown from a second-floor porch, and was unhurt.

Firemen, who fought the blaze in sub-zero weather, were still searching for bodies four hours after the alarm was sounded.

Jump To Deaths

Four of the victims were killed as they jumped from top windows in the three-story brick building. Others were trapped in blazing hallways, or dashed to death when the floors burned through and fell.

Most of the occupants awoke to find the 85-apartment building already an inferno, smoke and flames blocking halls and stairways.

How the blaze spread so quickly through the 45-year-old structure puzzled firemen as they poked about through the wreckage in search of more bodies.

The building is in three sections, and firemen said the fire appeared to start simultaneously in all three.

New Earthquake Destroys 10 More Turkish Villages

Euphrates Breaks Banks In Southern Anatolia District

Ankara—(AP)—A new earthquake was reported today to have leveled 10 villages in the Yozgad area, adding to Turkey's quake damage of last week as the River Euphrates broke its banks, spreading terror in the region of southern Anatolia.

The Yozgad region, scene of widespread suffering from previous tremors, was thrown into panic by the latest shocks. Hundreds of buildings collapsed. Nearly a thousand persons were made homeless.

The death toll, however, was expected to be slight, since the people had sufficient warning to flee to open spaces.

With scores of villages in western Anatolia still submerged, flooding of the thickly-populated Euphrates valley was expected to increase the estimated 46,000 dead in the combined disasters.

First reports from Birlik said it was impossible to estimate the damage or loss of life from the flood waters. The Euphrates still was rising, sweeping houses, cattle and whole settlements southward toward Syria.

Meanwhile the crippled nation battled bitter winter temperatures to get food, clothing and medicines to hundreds of thousands of survivors in the distressed regions, which now cover the major part of Asiatic Turkey.

Mobile hospitals reached the Erzinjan area, scene of the greatest suffering from last week's quakes.

Fishermen Ask Right To Take Under-Size Mesh Nets From Lake

Two Rivers—(AP)—Commercial fishermen today sought the consent of the conservation commission for removal of under-size mesh nets valued at $50,000 from Lake Michigan.

The nets were set in the lake last Friday before the commission's order forbidding the use of 2 1/2 inch mesh nets became effective. After Jan. 1 only nets of 2 1/2 inches mesh were legal.

The fishermen claim they placed their old nets in the water after Governor Heil had assured them they would not be prosecuted, pending a conference with conservation officials.

Woman Kills Mother. Then Tries to Slay Self

Pittsburgh—(AP)—A brilliant young university graduate student strangled her mother last night in a hotel, brooded by the body for hours, and then vainly attempted suicide in a leap from a fourth floor hotel window early today. Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan reported.

Monaghan said the young woman, Agnes West, 34-year-old Phi Beta Kappa student and graduate assistant librarian at West Virginia university, killed her mother, Mrs. Helene West, 58, to avoid a return to a state mental hospital in Huntington, W. Va. The inspector said Miss West had been charged with homicide.

7 Russian Army Divisions Ready To Head Offensive

Fresh Soviet Troops Prepare for Major Push Against Finns

BULLETIN

Helsinki—(AP)—The Finnish high command announced today a powerful Russian infantry attack on the Karelian isthmus had been repulsed "with heavy losses."

Helsinki—(AP)—Irrked by setbacks, Soviet Russia was reported today to be massing seven army divisions—about 105,000 men—as the spearhead for a major offensive against the Finnish Mannerheim line on the Karelian isthmus.

Under a new Soviet commander, the fresh troops were said by Finnish sources to be ready for a tremendous push against the Finnish fortifications which have been described by the Russians as comparable to Germany's Siegfried line.

General G. M. Stern, hero of Russia's Far Eastern "vest pocket war" with Japanese Manchoukuoan forces in 1938, was reported on Dec. 29 to have succeeded General K. A. Meretskov as chief of the Finnish campaign.

Fighting in a sub-zero blizzard which checked enemy air attacks, the Finns said Soviet attacks near Lake Lavajarvi on the eastern front yesterday were converted into Finnish victories. A Russian front line was reported seized.

Division Trapped

Meanwhile, reports of how Finnish troops trapped the 163rd army division Dec. 29 and 30 in the greatest battle of the war, reached the capital for the first time.

Four thousand of the 15,000 men making up the 163rd infantry division were drawn up on ice-covered Lake Kianta when the Finns surrounded them, it was said. The lake is in the "waistline" sector of the eastern frontier. More than 1,000 were killed before a tight ring was drawn around the remainder, according to the Finns.

After opening up the trap to allow Russian reinforcements to enter, the Finns closed in again and set up machine-gun nests along the Turn to page 2 col. 1

Court Dismisses Charge of Murder

Drops First-Degree Count Against Detroit Automotive Engineer

St. Clemens, Mich.—(AP)—A first-degree murder charge against Herbert F. Patterson, Detroit automotive engineer, was dismissed in justice court today upon request of prosecuting attorney Ivan A. Johnston.

Patterson was arrested after a coroner jury had named him as the slayer of his wife, whose body, bearing several knife wounds, was found on the kitchen floor of her home in suburban St. Clair Shores on Oct. 26.

"Our case against Patterson is largely circumstantial and we feel that with more time for further investigation we will be able to produce more direct evidence that will result in conviction of the killer," Prosecutor Johnson said.

Irish Government Asks for Wide Authority to Meet Any Threat of Open Rebellion

Dublin—(AP)—Aroused by repeated rumors that the undercover Irish republican party was planning open rebellion, the Irish (Eire) government asked parliament to approve today sweeping authority to meet any threat.

The weapon forged by Eamon de Valera, prime minister of independent Eire, is a 25-line emergency powers act by which the government could intern any person "whose liberty may be a menace to public safety."

Belgian observers expressed belief that the de Valera, Ireland's parliament, would make the bill law by tonight, and that its passage would be the signal for a nationwide manhunt by the Irish army and police for members of the I. R. A.

Board Ponders Referendum on New Building

Hears Proposal to Include New Jail on Top Floor

ARGUE ON PLANS

Supervisors May Defer Action Until February Meeting

The county board, meeting in special session to consider referendum on the construction of a new courthouse, this morning heard proposals to lay the entire matter over until February to get more complete plans on building, and to raise the bond issue $150,000 to include a jail on the top floor.

During the morning's discussion it was moved that a secret ballot be taken on the matter of the referendum, but the motion was voted down after Supervisor Louis Bonini, Appleton, declared that supervisors should "have enough nerve to let the people know what they are doing."

District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr said that an opinion received from the attorney general showed that resolutions for a $385,000 bond issue for a new courthouse, passed by the board last November, could be held in abeyance and that an advisory referendum could be held.

A resolution providing for an advisory referendum next April was introduced. It was pointed out in the resolution that the referendum would not be binding on the board and provided that the board consider the building proposition in May, after results of the referendum were known.

"Kids' Play"

Supervisor Patrick Garvey, Oneida, declared the board was indulging in "kids' play" concerning the building problem. He said that the people of the county were not asked to vote on highway appropriations, and that they were better qualified to vote on highway needs than on a new courthouse.

Termining the board's action a "joke," Supervisor George Schaefer, Greenville, said that if the board could not decide on whether a new building was needed, the people should vote against it in a referendum.

The matter of including a new jail in the building was brought in to the discussion when Harry P. Hoeftel, representing property owners in the vicinity of the courthouse, objected to moving the present jail to the east end of the courthouse site, according to present tentative building plans. Hoeftel said it would depreciate the value of the surrounding property and that the old jail structure would not conform to a new courthouse building.

Supervisor Mike Jacobs, Appleton, said that before holding a referendum he would favor adding $150,000 to the bond issue to include a jail on the top floor. Supervisor Jess Lathrop, Hortonville, proposed that the entire matter be laid over until February so that more detailed plans could be obtained. The referendum still could be held in April, he explained.

Supervisor Patrick Heenan, Appleton, said the jail problem should be decided upon, and he favored the referendum.

Extradition Request Awaits Disposition Of Chicago Charges

Madison—(AP)—Deputy Attorney General J. Ward Rector said today extradition proceedings against Robert C. Unger, of Milwaukee, wanted in Sheboygan county for alleged violation of the state securities law, would depend upon disposition of charges pending against him in Chicago.

Unger was arrested at Chicago Dec. 27 on warrants charging he passed worthless checks.

A fugitive warrant also has been issued against him in Sheboygan county where he was alleged to have sold unregistered whiskey warehouse receipts.

Confessed Slayer In Minnesota Faces Mental Examination

St. Cloud, Minn.—(AP)—Sheriff Art McIntee said today Brother Walter Stellner of St. John's abbey, held for slaying another lay brother Christmas eve, had told him about having been committed to an insane asylum at Mendota, Wis., in 1922.

Brother Stellner, 39, who became a member of St. John's abbey community at Collegeville, last year, has confessed. Sheriff McIntee said, that he shot Brother Stanislaus Zaworski "without provocation."

Brother Stellner, recovering in St. Cloud hospital, from self-inflicted pistol wounds sustained after the slaying, was to be given a mental examination late today.

Convict Exonerated In Oklahoma Deaths

Fort Towson, Okla.—(AP)—Exoneration of a convict in the violent New Year's eve deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rogers and their 4-year-old son, Dean, left investigators with no definite clues.

The convict, a cook at a nearby prison camp, was questioned by county attorney Norman Horton and Warden Jess Dunn after he had been implicated by a trusty at Springtown sub-prison.

Dunn said a personal investigation convinced him the convict had been implicated as a "kag."

A physician's report partially substantiated the story of James Glenn Rogers, 8, that two strangers shot his mother and father and then set fire to their three-room house. James fled, carrying his baby brother, Billie Don.

Dr. E. A. Johnson said he found buckshot in the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and that the latter also had been slugged. Dean apparently died of burns.

Murphy Slated for High Court Post, Report at Capital

Jackson to be Nominated Successor as Attorney General

Washington—(AP)—Frank Murphy will be appointed to the supreme court and Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson will succeed him as attorney general, it was learned today on high authority.

This shift in the justice department has been widely predicted ever since the death of Justice Pierce Butler Nov. 16. The reports increased yesterday when President Roosevelt conferred with both Murphy and Jackson.

Murphy became attorney general on Jan. 2, 1939, succeeding Homer Cummings. He had served two years as governor of Michigan and prior to that was high commissioner to the Philippines.

Jackson has been with the justice department since 1936. After heading the anti-trust division, he became solicitor general in 1938 when Stanley Reed was appointed to the supreme court.

On Capitol Hill today it was reported that the president would send these nominations to the senate tomorrow along with the nomination of Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.) to fill a vacancy on the bench of the Eastern Federal District court of Washington state.

Refuses to Quash Suit for Damages

Madison Judge Holds Pooling of Actions Legal Under State Law

Madison—(AP)—Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis refused today to dismiss a suit in which 45 Milwaukeeans asked damages of $55,000 from five partners in a Madison accounting firm in connection with the sale of stocks promoted by the defunct B. E. Buckman Investment company.

The suit, charging fraudulent conspiracy, named Fay Elwell, Benjamin Kiekhof, Verne B. Houghton, Fred Kellogg and Ray Linehan as defendants. They are partners in the firm of Elwell, Kiekhof and Company.

The Milwaukeeans assigned to Lester A. Woghan, as trustee, a total of 11,000 shares of stock in the Continental Service company, a Buckman sponsored firm, and authorized him to carry on any action for damages.

Judge Reis held this pooling of actions was legal under state law. He dismissed, however, another suit by the same plaintiffs against the Elwell, Kiekhof partners and five other persons, including officers of the Buckman company. This suit, also filed by the trustee, was brought under the federal security law of 1933. Judge Reis said the federal act did not permit assignment of liability claims to a trustee.

Agree to Set Up Two Commissions

Jap and Russian Representatives to Mark All Mutual Boundaries

Tokio—(AP)—The Japanese, foreign office announced today Soviet Russia had agreed an establishment of two commissions to mark all mutual borders of Manchoukuo, Outer Mongolia and Russia, and to prevent future disputes.

Foreign Minister Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura presented the Japanese plan Nov. 15 to Soviet Ambassador Constantin Smetanin. Russia agreed last Saturday to the general outline, but "with a request for some amendments and additions," according to a foreign office statement.

The proposed commissions would be distinct from the already-constituted commission to settle the dispute over a section of the border of Japanese-protected Manchoukuo and Sovietized Outer Mongolia, basis of sporadic fighting last summer.

The present commission is scheduled to resume deliberations at Harbin, Manchoukuo, Sunday.

Report U. S. Denmark Discuss Greenland Sale

Oslo—(AP)—The newspaper Tidningen today published an article alleging that the Danish government was negotiating the sale of Greenland to the United States.

The article, by Gustav Smedal, leader of a movement several years ago to acquire Greenland from Denmark for Norway, urged the Norwegian government to do its utmost to prevent such a transaction. (The Danish foreign office described Smedal's report as "pure invention.")

Milwaukee Man Denies He Assaulted Farmer

Waukesha—(AP)—Kenneth Innes, 41, Milwaukee insurance man, pleaded innocent in municipal court yesterday to a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm to Emil Kroening, 71-year-old town of Brookfield farmer.

Municipal Judge Austin J. Baird fixed bond at $250 and continued the case to Friday morning.

Kroening charged he was beaten by a man who broke into his farm home.

Dies Committee Finds Lewis and Most C.I.O. Members Not Communists; Soviet-Nazi Pact Helps Protect Democracy by Revealing Nature of Dictatorships

Washington—(AP)—The Dies committee estimated today that not more than 1,000,000 Americans have been seriously affected by subversive activities, which it said were declining rapidly because of the international situation.

"The time may speedily come when they will cease to be seriously regarded by anyone in the United States," the committee said in reporting to the house on its two-year investigation of un-American activities.

In a 15,000-word summary of its hearings, signed by all seven members after a stormy meeting, the committee drew these major conclusions:

1. The overwhelming majority of C. I. O. members, including President John L. Lewis, are not Communists or Communist sympathizers, but the leadership of a quarter of the C. I. O. unions is "more than tinged with Communism."

2. It omitted from a list of "communist front" organizations the American Youth Congress, which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had upheld. The youth congress has been described as a "front" group by witnesses before the committee.

3. The soviet-nazi pact has helped protect constitutional democracy by "making more clear the real nature of all dictatorships" and by revealing the similarity between Hitler's nazism and Stalin's communism.

4. Both the German-American Bund and the Communist party in the United States are agents of foreign power and should be controlled.

5. The communist advocacy of changing the United States government violates the 1933 treaty by which the United States recognized Russia.

6. There is a "remote possibility" that communists, nazis or fascists might overthrow the nation's constitutional government, but a "greater chance" exists that opponents of one form of violence may accept another type they find less objectionable.

7. Elimination of subversive activities depends on earnest efforts of all groups and on strict law enforcement.

8. The committee, which expires tonight, should be continued to make certain that the "confusion" among subversive organizations "is turned into complete rout."

Two Major Disputes

Two principal disputes arose in the committee yesterday when it was studying the final draft of its report. A special vote had to be taken before the members agreed to include John L. Lewis in the statement exonerating the bulk of C. I. O. members from being communist sympathizers.

Representative Dempsey (D-N. M.) moved that the committee make public the names of any federal employees it could prove were communist.

Individuals and Firms Face Federal Charges In Alleged Fraud Case

New York—(AP)—The Standard Commercial Tobacco Company, Inc., two of its former officers and directors, and the Standard Commercial Export and Finance Corporation were indicted today on charges growing out of what the government described as a $4,000,000 fraud.

An inmate of the Wisconsin state prison also was indicted.

The 15-count true bill charged conspiracy, mail fraud and violation of the securities and exchange act of 1934.

It was handed up to Federal Judge William Bondy.

17 Old Locomotives to Be Broken Up for Metal

Green Bay—(AP)—Seventeen old locomotives of the North Western railroad were heading for the last roundhouse today.

Made up in a special train, they left for the shops of a Chicago salvager firm where they will be broken up for scrap metal. Two late-type engines pulled the train and a third pushed.

Superintendent C. J. Larkin said the old locomotives were either obsolete or worn out. Some had been idle in the shops here more than five years. Their original cost totaled more than $750,000.

Steinle to Assume New Duties Friday as Judge

Milwaukee—(AP)—Roland J. Steinle, newly-appointed Milwaukee county circuit judge, will assume his new duties Friday morning, he said today. He will take the oath of office in the courtroom formerly occupied by his predecessor, the late John J. Gregory.

Voices Plea for National Unity in Annual Message

FOR TRADE PLAN

Says Budget Will Call for Reductions in Most Big Items

The text of President Roosevelt's message to congress is published on page 4 of this issue.

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt coupled an emphatic plea for national unity in the face of war-born disintegration abroad today with a recommendation that congress vote new taxes to finance emergency spending for a "common sense" national defense.

But, he said, in his annual message, "the permanent security of America in the present crisis does not lie in armed force alone." He continued:

"What we face is a set of worldwide forces of disintegration—violent, ruthless, destructive of all the moral, religious and political standards which mankind, after centuries of struggle, has come to cherish."

To this he added that "national unity is, in a very real and deep sense, the fundamental safeguard of all democracy."

Lands Trade Facts

Personally delivering his annual message before a joint session of the house and senate, the chief executive called for extension of the reciprocal trade treaty program—already under fire from Republicans and some Democrats—"as an indispensable part of the foundation of any stable and durable peace."

He disclosed that his budget message to be submitted to the new session of congress tomorrow would call for reductions in "practically all other important items" except national defense.

He asked for special taxes to meet that extra cost "in the hope that we can continue in these days of increasing economic prosperity to reduce the federal deficit."

And he declared that an answer must be found "in terms of work and opportunity" for the unemployed problem because "we have not yet found a way to employ the surplus of our labor which the efficiency of our industrial processes has created."

Face Youth Problem

Then in a paragraph which carried political overtones for many of his listeners sensitive to every hint of politics in this presidential election year, Mr. Roosevelt declared that youth especially has problems of unemployment which must be solved.

"For they, looking ahead to life, are entitled to action on our part and not merely to admonitions of optimism or lectures on economic law," he said.

"Some in our midst have sought to instill a feeling of fear and defeatism in the minds of the American people about this problem."

"To face the task of finding jobs faster than invention can take them away—is not defeatism. To warble easy platitudes that if we will only go back to ways that have failed, everything will be all right—is not courage."

In his discussion of national defense Mr. Roosevelt said that "for several years past we have been compelled to strengthen our own national defense."

"That has created a very large portion of our treasury deficits," he declared. "This year in the light of Turn to page 4 col. 1

Sentries on Guard As Hitler's Friend Returns to England

Folkestone, England—(AP)—Sentries with fixed bayonets guarded the return to England today of Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford, the peer's daughter whose bionde "Nordic beauty" charmed Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

Lord Redesdale, her father, was waiting on the quayside with a car and ambulance when the channel steamer from Calais arrived shortly before 4 p. m. (10 a. m. C. S. T.)

His daughter had been carried aboard the steamer on a stretcher at the French port and she was accompanied on her journey home by her mother, Lady Redesdale, and a sister, Deborah Vivien.

Submarine Sinks Swedish Ship Off Coast of Scotland

Twenty Members of Crew Missing; Eleven Survivors are Rescued

London.—(AP)—The Swedish steamer Svartan, 2,475 tons, was reported torpedoed today by a submarine off the northeast coast of Scotland and sunk in a minute and a half.

Twenty members of her crew were missing. Eleven survivors on a raft were rescued by a lifeboat.

New York.—(AP)—Mackay Radio today picked up an S O S from the Swedish steamship Kiruna, saying: "been fired at by U-boat and are sinking slowly. Require assistance."

She gave her position as approximately 500 miles north of the Azores.

The Kiruna, a 5,484 ton freighter, was last reported as having sailed from Hampton Roads on Nov. 1 for Gothenburg. Her home port is Stockholm. She is a two-decker, 384 feet long, with a 53-foot beam.

The Kiruna's New York agents, Eckert and Stockard, said they had received no word from the vessel. They said she normally carried a crew of 38.

"If the Germans sink that boat they will be cutting their own throats," said Harold Winsch of the Eckert and Stockard firm. "The people who own her also own the Swedish mines."

Owners of the Kiruna are Trafik AB Grangesberg Oxelund of Stockholm. Swedish ore mines supply Germany with much of the material for munitions.

shore, it was said. Land forces attacked the bottled up enemy by night and the air force by day.

Soviet troops, trucks and cannon dropped into the water when bombs blasted great holes in the ice.

Panic-stricken, the survivors fled in confusion but large numbers were reported taken prisoner.

Reporting new successes, a Finnish communiqué yesterday said seven Soviet planes were shot down.

In a day-long attack by the Russians at Aittajoki, about sixty miles north of Lake Ladoga, the Finns reported they seized and held the Russian base after it had "passed on from hand to hand."

The communiqué said the Russian battleship October Revolution bombarded the island fortress of Kovioisto south of Viipuri "without results worth mentioning."

(The newspaper National Tidende at Copenhagen said rumors persisted that the wreck of a troop train on the Murmansk railroad had added to the confusion of Russian forces on the northern front. The report could not be confirmed.)

Michigan Governor Tells Dissatisfied Employees to Resign

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Governor Luren D. Dickinson, 80-year-old executive who once declared that everyone in the Michigan state government "from governor on down to janitor" is overpaid, said yesterday employees who consider themselves underpaid "can bring their resignations in."

The governor reported that 42 applications for salary increases had been received and rejected.

Michigan governors are paid $5,000 a year. There is no executive mansion but the governor is allowed $5,000 a year for expenses. Governor Dickinson resides on a farm near Lansing.

Cloak Discusses Plays At College Convocation

Current theatrical offerings of Broadway were discussed by E. Theodore Cloak, associate professor of dramatics, in Lawrence college convocation Tuesday morning at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Prof. Cloak gave a short summary of each of the plays and musicals now showing in New York and cited statistics from the stage trade journal which indicated there were more hits this year than in previous years. He also spoke of the importance of the stage in the legitimate stage corporation, whose plays are coming to Appleton and many cities throughout the country this year.

munists. He and four other committee members said they knew of none. The sixth named only one person in the WPA, and the matter was dropped.

Those who signed the report in person were Representatives Dempsey, Starnes (D-Ala.), Casey (D-Mass.), Voorhis (D-Calif.), Thomas (R-N. J.) and Mason (R-Ill.). The name of Chairman Dies (D-Texas), who is ill at Orange, Texas, was affixed by a clerk.

The report asserted that Communists attempted early to gain a foothold in the American Federation of Labor, then switched to the C.I.O. "Sincere Workers."

"It is unmistakably clear," the committee said, "that the overwhelming majority of the members of the C.I.O. as well as its president are not Communists or Communist sympathizers, but sincere American workers seeking to improve their lot in life in perfectly legitimate American fashion."

"The evidence before the committee indicates, however, that the leadership of some 10 or 12 of the (C.I.O.) unions out of a total of 40 is more than tinged with Communism. . . . There is encouraging evidence of an attempt on the part of the C.I.O. leadership to remove this Communist influence."

But the report said that on the basis of testimony, Communist leadership was entrenched in these unions:

Red Leadership
National Maritime union; United Canner, Packing and Allied Workers; Federation of Architects, Chemists and Technicians; Fur Workers International union; International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's union; American Communications association; United Electrical Radio and Mechanical Workers of America; United Furniture Workers of America.

The committee repeated its contention that the Communist party "bores from within" through "front organizations." It listed these as "fronts":

American League for Peace and Democracy, International Workers Order, American Student Union, Friends of the Soviet Union, National Negro Congress, Southern Negro Youth Congress, League of American Writers, Workers Alliance, Spanish Refugee Relief campaign, North American Committee to aid Spanish Democracy, Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.

American Youth Congress
Discussing the American Youth Congress, the report said:

"The committee finds a central organization which has no membership of its own, but which attempts to affiliate together the largest possible number of organizations of American young people, the vast majority of whom have no connection with communism, nazism or any movement of that sort but are members of some of the most necessary and valuable organizations which our country possesses."

It said, too, that the Young Communist League, a member of the youth congress, sometimes has exerted considerable influence on the congress.

The committee said it was unable to understand why any youth organization that was pledged to preserve American institutions would include those who do not believe in democracy.

"The committee finds," the report said, "that the American League for Peace and Democracy has probably been the most effective of all the united front organizations in drawing innocent and earnest people into activities cooperative with the Communist party."

Majority Silent
"We fully realize that the vast majority of the membership of the league consists of people that simply believe in peace and democracy, and we find it difficult to understand why this majority has not asserted itself with greater vigor in connection with the activities of the league."

The report said of the International Labor Defense: "although some non-Communists have undoubtedly lent support to its efforts and perhaps even cooperated with it, the committee has established that it is, essentially, the legal defense arm of the Communist party of the United States."

The committee expressed belief that the un-American inquiry was an important factor in bringing about the following results:

Results of Inquiry
1. Fritz Kuhn, German American Bund leader, has been imprisoned "as a man unable to be trusted with the custody of the funds of his own organization."

2. Earl Browder, Communist party secretary, and William Weirer, party treasurer, have been indicted on a charge of falsifying passports.

3. Nicholas Dozenberg, described by federal officials as one of the founders of the Communist party in the United States, has been charged with counterfeiting on orders of the communist international.

4. William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader, has disappeared rather than appear "like a man" before the committee.

5. Officials of Bookniga, Soviet agency, have pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to register with the state department as foreign agents.

6. Arno Rissi and Mrs. Leslie Fry, alleged world communist and fascist leaders, "have fled the country for good and sufficient reason."

7. Many bills of a corrective nature have been passed by the house as a result of testimony before the committee.

Raps Dictators
The committee, reporting that it could find little difference between the regimes of Stalin and Hitler, asserted that both tried to build up in other nations followers who could be "deperded upon" to protect the interests of the European dictators under every circumstance.

"Up until the time of the signing of the pact between Stalin and Hitler," the report said, "the Communist party on its part was about to gain its greatest influence in the United States by attempting to represent itself as the spearhead of an 'anti-fascist' movement, and the German-American Bund on the other hand was about to make its most effective appeal by representing itself as the spearhead of an 'anti-communist' movement."

"At the present time, with the signing of the soviet-nazi pact, these movements have been severely crippled and this tactic is far less effective than formerly."

San Francisco Shipping Strike Near Settlement

Representatives of Ship Clerks, Employers Ready to Sign

San Francisco.—(AP)—Peace returned to the San Francisco waterfront today with approval by striking C.I.O. ship clerks and their employers of a strike settlement formula.

Representatives of both groups were called to a joint meeting to sign the agreement, and to work out details of the port re-opening, possibly by 1 p. m. (3 p. m. C.S.T.).

Acceptance of the settlement plan was voted late yesterday by the union members. It previously had been approved by employers.

The strike has tied up major shipping on the San Francisco waterfront since Nov. 10, when longshoremen refused to cross the newly-posted picket lines of the clerks' union.

The dispute centered around the union's demands in new contract negotiations for preferential hiring for monthly clerks, comprising about a third of the union's membership of approximately 650. Employers refused to grant the demand and later refused to arbitrate this issue, although they agreed in the final settlement to arbitration of some minor points if these questions are not settled in 10 more days of negotiations.

Under the seven-point settlement formula, the clerks will drop temporarily their preferential hiring demands and return to work under the same conditions prevailing when the strike was called, pending achievement of a new work contract. The agreement also provided that Dean Wayne L. Morse of the University of Oregon law school, Pacific coast waterfront arbitrator, be named as impartial member of an arbitration board of three to settle the issues except those involving preferential hiring, if negotiations leave these matters unsettled.

Much cloudiness, local light snow tonight or by Thursday; not quite so cold extreme south portion tonight, colder Thursday northeast portion.

GENERAL WEATHER
Rain has fallen since yesterday morning over the central Pacific coast and the central Rocky mountains, and light snow or flurries over the plains states and the lake region. Generally fair weather prevails over the southern states, New England states and over the northern plains.

Cold weather continued this morning over the central states and the central and northern plains states, with zero temperatures general over the northern plains states, but it is moderating over the southern plains states.

Light snow is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with colder Thursday.

Mother of 3 Admits Drowning Her Baby

Fowler, Ind.—(AP)—Sheriff Ralph Hampton said today Mrs. Helen M. Berry, 24-year-old Fowler widow and mother of three small children had confessed she drowned her newly born son on the morning of Dec. 24.

Mrs. Berry has been living here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yarno.

The parents said they were away when the baby was born and returned to find their daughter in bed and the baby's body in a receptacle in the room.

Prosecutor Douglas Elwood said the case would be presented to the next grand jury.

Trautmann Will Present Report On Men's Parley

Brotherhood of Evangelical Church Is Meeting Tonight

Although local churches are still in the midst of a post-holiday lull, a few meetings are scheduled for this week. John Trautmann, president of Appleton district Brotherhood of the Evangelical church, will give a report on the Evangelical Men's congress which he attended at Elkhart, Ind., last fall at a meeting of the Brotherhood of Emmanuel Evangelical church at 7:30 tonight.

Chester Riesenweber will be leader. Christian Endeavor society met Tuesday night.

Sunday school teachers of St. Matthew Lutheran church will meet this evening to discuss the work for the coming year.

There will be a special missionary service Thursday night at the Gospel temple. The Rev. G. D. Ingessell, who is leaving soon for the mission field in Africa, will be the speaker.

At First English Lutheran church there will be a council meeting at 7 o'clock, and Ladies Aid meeting at 7:45 Thursday evening.

Sunday School Bus
A new plan whereby a Sunday school bus will be run every Sunday morning for the next three months to pick up children in the outlying sections of the city, especially the northern and southern parts, will be inaugurated by Trinity English Lutheran church next Sunday. Children of the church will meet next Saturday, the Ladies Aid society Thursday afternoon and Women's Missionary society next evening at the home of Mrs. Albert C. Roehl, W. Summer street.

St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will have a board meeting tonight, and the Brotherhood met last evening.

The Rev. John W. Wilson, pastor-at-large for Congregational churches in Wisconsin, preached last Sunday at the Congregational church at Rio Dr. Ira E. Schlagenhauf, district superintendent of Appleton district of the Methodist church, will conduct quarterly conferences at Medina on Thursday and at Kaukauna on Friday.

First Friday devotions will be held at 7:30 Friday night at St. Mary church.

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. Among the citations from the Bible was the following: "The people that walked in darkness have been a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon us a child is born, unto us a son is given. And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon him."

Residence Roof Fire Results in $125 Damage

Damage of about $125 was caused by a fire at the home of Walter Peters, 733 W. Spring street, at 2:17 yesterday afternoon. The blaze was extinguished by the fire department.

Fire caused damage of more than $100 at the Bungalow Lunch restaurant about 9:05 last night. The blaze started in shavings in the attic and burned down between the walls, causing damage to the kitchen. Firemen put out the fire.

The department was called to the Appleton Toy and Furniture factory, 828 S. Lawe street, at 2:55 this morning when dust on top of a shavings hopper caught fire.

Krueger Will Attend State Highway School

The highway committee of the Outagamie county board of supervisors at a meeting yesterday authorized Arnold Krueger, highway commissioner, to attend the annual state road school at Milwaukee Jan. 8-11.

The committee approved bills for materials amounting to $1,594.22 and for labor, $5,000.43.

Submit First Report on Public Service Apprentices

Madison.—(AP)—State government and higher educational institutions have received mutual benefits from the 1937 law permitting apprentices to be trained in the public service, the University of Wisconsin extension division said today.

The division prepared a separate report on the history, progress and aims of the project, based upon the first year's experience.

The "in-service" training program began July 1, 1938, when college men and women were selected by the bureau of personnel to work in the various state departments and continue their education at the same time. The primary purpose was to develop a "career service" in state government.

The extension division expressed a hope the project would be expanded to include municipal and county governments.

Apprentices were paid $125 a month by the employing department and were eligible for university loans up to $400 each. In the first year 16 students borrowed $2,000 and repaid the entire sum with interest.

Thirty-six apprentices were chosen from senior and graduate students—27 from Wisconsin, eight from Marquette University and one from Lawrence college. Twenty-two have started their second year's work. Nearly every major state department was represented in the program.

Special fields in which the apprentices worked were those of attorney, accountant, engineer, research economist, labor economist, statistician, physician, dentist, social welfare worker, technician, publicist, journalist, zoologist and adult educator.

FCC Recommends Consolidation of Telegraph Firms

Terms Move 'Obvious Remedy for Many of The Existing Ills'

Washington.—(AP)—The federal communications commission recommended today consolidation of telegraph companies as "an obvious remedy for many of the existing ills" of the industry.

The firms covered by the report were the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation. Reports of proposals for merging the two companies have been heard for several years, and the senate last winter directed the FCC to survey the situation.

Western Union has nearly 20,000 offices and Postal nearly 4,400. On June 30, Western Union had 43,490 employees and Postal (land lines) 14,560.

The commission suggested that congress remove the present prohibition against consolidation, in a report sent to Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the senate interstate commerce committee.

"If properly safeguarded through effective regulation," the commission said, consolidation would "maintain for the telegraph using public the benefits inherent in competition in the telegraph field and result in the rehabilitation of an industry which at present offers little security for its employees."

It added that "communication needs incident to national defense will be more effectively provided for" by unification.

Saying that competition, changing economic conditions and other causes have brought about a situation which "jeopardizes the existence of certain of the existing telegraph carriers," the commission commented:

"The financial situation of the Postal system is precarious and that of Western Union, although less critical, is definitely unfavorable."

Pheasant Season on Preserves Extended

A bulletin announcing the extension of pheasant hunting season on licensed shooting preserves from Jan. 1 to Jan. 31 has been received at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, from H. W. MacKenzie, state conservation director.

The order earlier set Jan. 1 as the closing of the pheasant season on licensed preserves.

Commission Sets Schedule of Rates For Belle Heights

State Approves Wholesale Charges for Water Service

The public service commission has approved the schedule of water rates covering wholesale service to the village of Belle Heights, it was announced at a meeting of the Appleton water commission Tuesday.

The rates were submitted at a hearing at Madison two weeks ago at which time the village applied for permission to set up a water utility to do business with Appleton. A rate to be charged consumers in the village will be set up by the village and the service commission.

The village will be charged 15 cents per hundred cubic feet for the first 30,000 cubic feet; 10 cents per hundred for the next 70,000 cubic feet; and 7 cents per hundred cubic feet for all over 100,000 cubic feet.

A charge of $300 per year will be made for fire protection on the basis of 20 fire hydrants and an additional charge of $3.75 per quarter will be made for each additional fire hydrant installed in the village.

Service Charge
The commission will charge the village $46.25 every three months for maintenance and depreciation of the 8-inch master meter at Bennett street and Wisconsin avenue which measures all water used by village consumers.

The rates and charges approved by the service commission will be subject to investigation and may be

Education Board Setup at Waupaca May be Revamped

Ordinance Proposes to Reduce Number, Provide For Popular Election

Waupaca.—An ordinance providing for a change in the number of members as well as in the manner of selection of the board of education, was introduced to the city council Tuesday evening by Alderman L. D. Seibert. The ordinance provides for a board of five members, rather than the present seven; that they be chosen from the city at large at the regular city election, that as members of the board they are city officials and shall be nominated and elected as are other city officials and shall therefore file and take the official oath. The ordinance was a surprise to some of the aldermen and brought out considerable discussion as to its merits. It was finally agreed to leave it in the hands of the judiciary committee which was to meet at 10:30 Wednesday morning. The committee will report at a special council meeting Wednesday evening.

Many residents of Churchill and Royalton streets over which Highway 22, 10 and 54 are routed, were present to petition the council to refuse to permit a junk yard in that vicinity. Steps for the junk yard are already taken by a purchaser of property. Dr. John Pelton, owner of a recently built greenhouse on Churchill street, was spokesman for the group. Dr. Pelton declared that not only was their particular properties to be considered but the city in general should be thought of.

Alderman Tommy Davidson said "it is time to clean up our little city," and suggested that all junk yards within the city limits be abolished—certainly that no more be allowed. Other suggestions were that junk yards be licensed as are the taverns and that a 6-foot fence be placed around all those already operating within the city. This petition also was referred to the judiciary committee for action of the council at its special meeting.

Roosevelt Asks New Tax Levy to Finance Defense

continuing world uncertainty, I am asking the congress for army and navy increases which are based not on panic but on common sense.

"They are not as great as enthusiastic alarmists seek. They are not as small as unrealistic persons claiming superior private information would demand.

"As will appear in the annual budget tomorrow, the only important increase in any part of the budget is the estimate for national defense. Practically all other items show a reduction.

"Therefore, in the hope that we can continue in these days of increasing economic prosperity to reduce the federal deficit, I am asking the congress to levy sufficient additional taxes to meet the emergency spending for national defense."

Mother Is Present
Among those accompanying the chief executive were Mrs. Roosevelt and her mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt.

Extra police had kept a close watch at the White House grounds as the party rode away from there and scores of officers were on hand at the capitol to keep under control the watching crowds that shivered in sub-freezing cold despite the fact that skies were cloudless and the sunlight brilliant.

When the president reached the massive gray capitol building, house members were already assembled inside their great chamber and a short time later members of the senate, led by Vice President Garner, filed in.

These were followed into the chamber by members of President Roosevelt's cabinet, for whom special front row seats had been reserved.

Although the president's annual address was the first real business of this first session of a new decade, both the senate and house had formally opened at noon, then, after brief organizing ceremonies, adjourned to await the chief executive.

Congress Primed For Sharp Debate

Extra Precautions Taken To Protect President As Session Opens

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, D. C. — A congress primed for clashes over tariff, spending and labor issues and alert for signs of presidential politics returned to historic capitol hill today for an indefinite stay.

President Roosevelt, with foreign affairs uppermost in mind, completed his annual legislative message only a few hours before the time to deliver it at a joint senate-house session shortly after the formalities of the noon opening.

The same extraordinary precautions in September were in order.

A force of 150 city policemen was detailed to assist the secret service, capitol guards and C-men in patrolling Mr. Roosevelt's route from the executive mansion to the house chamber.

A few went on duty last night when the doors to the big domed capitol were locked, and special cards of admission were required for entrance today.

Forms Backdrop
The house rostrum had been slicked up for the occasion. An American flag, hung beneath a gold clock, formed a backdrop for Mr. Roosevelt.

The president's budget message, revising earlier estimates of receipts and expenditures for the current fiscal year and recommending new outlays of between $8,000,000,000 and $9,000,000,000 for 1940-41, will be submitted tomorrow.

Republicans in both houses have arranged party conferences for Friday to go over the "state of the union" and budget messages before formulating strategy for the session.

Democrats, who earlier had expressed eagerness to present a united front on both foreign and domestic problems and avoid political squabbles which might be carried into the elections, admitted last night that an outlook for a short and harmonious session was not so bright.

Child Killed, 2 Others Hurt in Auto Accident

Richland Center, Wis.—Robert Dill, 10, was killed and two others injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on Highway 14 east of there late yesterday. Dill's sister, Nila, 14, received a broken arm, and Glen Scott, 18, driver of the car, suffered minor injuries and shock.

VICTIM OF CAR
Sheboygan.—Ernst Perleberg, 71, was killed almost instantly when struck by an automobile here last night.

Albany, Wis.—Fred Thornley, 59, was struck and injured fatally by a falling tree yesterday. The accident occurred at a farm on which he was cutting wood.

President Calls Trade Treaties Step Toward Peace as He Asks National Unity in Facing 'Disintegration' Abroad

Washington —(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's annual message to congress follows:

As the congress reassembles, the impact of wars abroad makes it natural to approach "the state of the Union" through a discussion of foreign affairs.

But it is important that those who hear and read this message should in no way confuse that approach with any thought that our government is abandoning, or even overlooking, the great significance of its domestic policies.

The social and economic forces which have been mismanaged abroad until they have resulted in revolution, dictatorship and war are the same as those which we are struggling to adjust peacefully at home.

You are well aware that dictatorships—and the philosophy of force which justifies and accompanies dictatorships—have originated in almost every case in the necessity for drastic action to improve internal conditions where democratic action for one reason or another has failed to respond to modern needs and modern demands.

It was with far-sighted wisdom that the framers of the constitution brought together in one magnificent phrase three great concepts—"common defense," "general welfare" and "domestic tranquility."

General Welfare First
More than a century and a half later we still believe with them that our best defense is the promotion of our general welfare and domestic tranquility.

In previous messages to the congress I have repeatedly warned that whether we like it or not, the daily lives of American citizens will, of necessity, feel the shock of events on other continents. This is no longer mere theory for it has been definitely proved by the facts of yesterday and today.

To say that the domestic well-being of one hundred and thirty million Americans is deeply affected by the well-being of the ill-being of the populations of other nations is only to recognize in world affairs the truth we all accept in home affairs.

If in any local unit—a city, county, state or region—low standards of living are permitted to continue, the level of the civilization of the entire nation will be pulled downward.

The identical principle extends to the rest of a civilized world. But there are those who wishfully insist, in innocence or ignorance or both, that the United States of America as a self-contained unit can live happily and prosperously, its future secure, inside a high wall of isolation while, outside, the rest of civilization and the commerce and culture of mankind are shattered.

I can understand the feelings of those who warn the nation that they will never again consent to the sending of American youth to fight on the soil of Europe. But, as I remember, nobody has asked them to consent—for nobody expects such an undertaking.

Peace Remains Goal
The overwhelming majority of our fellow citizens do not abandon in the slightest their hope and expectation that the United States will not become involved in military participation in the war.

I can also understand the wishfulness of those who oversimplify the whole situation by repeating that all we have to do is to mind our own business and keep the nation out of war. But there is a vast difference between keeping out of war and pretending that this war is none of our business.

We do not have to go to war with other nations, but at least we can strive with other nations to encourage the kind of peace that will lighten the troubles of the world, and by so doing help our own nation as well.

I ask that all of us everywhere think things through with the single aim of how best to serve the future of our own nation. I do not mean merely its future relationship with the outside world. I mean its domestic future as well—the work, the security, the prosperity, the happiness, the life of all the boys and girls of the United States, as they are inevitably affected by such relationships. For it becomes clearer and clearer that the future world will be a shabby and dangerous place to live in—even for Americans to live in—if it is ruled by force in the hands of a few.

Already the crash of swiftly moving events over the earth has made us all think with a longer view. Fortunately, that thinking cannot be controlled by partisanship. The time is long past when any political party or any particular group can curry and capture public favor by labeling itself the "peace party" or the "peace bloc." That label belongs to the whole United States and to every right thinking man, woman and child within it.

For out of all the military and diplomatic turmoil, out of all the propaganda and counter-propaganda of the present conflicts, there are two facts which stand out and which the whole world acknowledges.

Good Neighbor Policy
The first is that never before has the government of the United States done so much as in our recent past to establish and maintain the policy of the good neighbor with its sister nations.

The second is that in almost every nation in the world today there is a true public belief that the United States has been, and will continue to be, a potent and active factor in seeking the re-establishment of peace.

In these recent years we have had a clear record of peace and good-will. It is an open book that cannot be twisted or defamed. It is a record that must be continued and enlarged.

So I hope that Americans everywhere will work out for themselves the several alternatives which lie before world civilization, which necessarily includes our own.

We must look ahead and see the possibilities for our children if the rest of the world comes to be dominated by concentrated force alone—even though today we are a very great and a very powerful nation.

We must look ahead and see the effect on our own future if all the small nations throughout the world have their independence snatched from them or become mere appendages to relatively vast and powerful military systems.

We must look ahead and see the kind of lives our children would have to lead if a large part of the rest of the world were compelled to worship the God imposed by a military ruler, or were forbidden to worship God at all; if the rest of the world were forbidden to read and hear the facts—the daily news of their own and other nations—if they were deprived of the truth which makes men free.

We must look ahead and see the effect on our future generations if world trade is controlled by any nation or group of nations which set up that control through military force.

It is, of course, true that the record of past centuries includes destruction of small nations, enslavement of peoples, and building of empires on the foundation of force. But wholly apart from the greater international morality which we seek today, we recognize the practical fact that with modern weapons and modern conditions, modern man can no longer live a civilized life if we are to go back to the practice of wars and conquests of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Can't be "Ostriches"
Summing up this need of looking ahead, and in words of common sense and good American citizenship, I hope that we will have fewer American ostriches in our midst. It is not good for the ultimate health of ostriches to bury their heads in the sand.

Only an ostriche would look upon these wars through the eyes of cynicism or ridicule.

Of course, the peoples of other nations have the right to choose their own form of government. But we in this nation still believe that such choice should be predicated on certain freedoms which we think are essential everywhere. We know that we ourselves will never be wholly safe at home unless other governments recognize such freedoms.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS DISCUSS ROOSEVELT MESSAGE

agreement act even more than when it was passed.

U. S. Can Be Leader
I emphasize the leadership which this nation can take when the time comes for a renewal of world peace. Such an influence will be greatly weakened if this government becomes a dog in the manger of trade selfishness.

The first president of the United States warned us against entangling foreign alliances. The present president of the United States subscribes to and follows that precept of the contributing causes of existing wars. It damned up vast untold surpluses, helping to bring about unemployment and suffering in the United States and everywhere else.

Trade Agreements Act
To point the way to break up the log-jam, our trade agreements act was passed—and based upon a policy of equality of treatment among nations and of mutually profitable arrangements of trade.

It is not correct to infer that legislative powers have been transferred from the congress to the executive branch of the government. Everybody recognizes that general tariff legislation is a congressional function, but we know that because of the stupendous task involved in the fashioning and passing of a general law, it is advisable to provide at times of emergency some flexibility to make the general law adjustable to quickly changing conditions.

We are in such a time today. But trade cooperation with the rest of the world does not violate that precept in any way.

Even as through these trade agreements we prepare to cooperate in a world that wants peace, we must likewise be prepared to take care of ourselves if the world cannot attain peace.

For several years past we have been compelled to strengthen our own national defense. That has created a very large portion of our treasury deficits. This year in the light of continuing world uncertainty I am asking the congress for army and navy increases which are based not on panic but on common sense. They are not as great as enthusiastic alarmists seek. They are not as small as unrealistic persons claiming superior information would demand.

As will appear in the annual budget tomorrow, the only important increase in any part of the budget is the estimate for national defense. Practically all other important items show a reduction. Therefore, in the hope that we can continue in these days of increasing economic prosperity to reduce the federal deficit, I am asking the congress to levy sufficient additional taxes to meet the emergency spending for national defense.

Behind the army and navy, of course, lies our ultimate line of defense—"the general welfare" of our people. We cannot report, despite all the progress we have made in our domestic problems—despite the fact that production is back to 1929 levels—that all our problems are solved. The fact of unemployment of millions of men and women remains a symptom of a number of difficulties in our economic system not yet adjusted.

Many Still Jobless
While the number of the unemployed has decreased, while their immediate needs for food and clothing—as far as the federal government is concerned—have been largely met, while their morale has been kept alive by giving them useful public work, we have not yet found a way to employ the surplus of our labor which the efficiency of our industrial processes has created.

We refuse the European solution of using the unemployed to build up excessive armaments which eventually result in dictatorships. We encourage an American way—through an increase of national income which is the only way we can be sure will take up the slack. Much progress has been made; much remains to be done.

We recognize that we must find an answer in terms of work and opportunity.

The unemployment problem today has become very definitely a problem of youth as well as of age. As each year has gone by hundreds of thousands of boys and girls have come of working age. They now form an army of unused youth. They must be an especial concern of Democratic government.

Must Help Youth
We must continue, above all things, to look for a solution of their special problem. For they, looking ahead to life, are entitled to action on our part and not merely to admonitions of optimism or lectures on economic laws.

Some in our midst have sought to instill a feeling of fear and defeatism in the minds of the American people about this problem.

To face the task of finding jobs faster than invention can take them away—is not defeatism. To warble easy platitudes that if we will only go back to ways that have failed, everything will be all right—is not courage.

We met a problem of real fear and real defeatism in 1933. We faced the facts—with action, not with words.

The American people will reject the doctrine of fear, confident that in the '30's we have been building soundly a new order of things different from the order of the '20's. In this dawn of the decade in the '40's, with our program of social improvement started, we must continue to carry on the processes of recovery so as to preserve our gains and provide jobs at living wages.

There are, of course, many other items of great public interest which could be enumerated in this message—the continued conservation of our natural resources, the improvement of health and of education, the extension of social security to larger groups, the freeing of large areas from restricted transportation discriminations, the extension of the merit system and many others.

Our continued progress in the social and economic field is important not only for the significance of each part of it but for the total effect which our program of domestic betterment has upon that most valuable asset of a nation in dangerous times—its national unity.

Standards Threatened
The permanent security of America in the present crisis does not lie in a armed force alone. What we face is a set of world-wide forces of disintegration—vicious, ruthless, destructive of all the moral, religious and political standards which mark mankind, after centuries of struggle, has come to cherish most.

In these moral values, in these forces which we have made our nation great, we must actively and practically reassert our faith.

These words—"national unity"—must not be allowed to become merely a high sounding phrase, a vague generality, a pious hope, to which everyone can give lip-service. They must be made to have real meaning in terms of the daily thoughts and acts of every man, woman and child in our land during the coming year and the years that lie ahead.

For national unity is, in a very real and deep sense, the fundamental safeguard of all democracy. Doctrines which set group against group, faith against faith, race against race, class against class, fanning the fires of hatred in men too despondent, too desperate to think for themselves, were used as rabble-raising slogans on which dictators could ride to power. And once in power they could saddle their tyrannies on whole nations, and on their weaker neighbors.

This is the danger to which we in America must begin to be more alert. For the apologists for foreign aggressors, and equally those selfish and partisan groups at home who wrap themselves in a false mantle of Americanism to promote their own economic, financial or political advantage, are now trying European tricks upon us, seeking to muddy the stream of our national thinking, weakening us in the face of danger, by trying to set our own people to fighting among themselves. Such tactics are what have helped to plunge Europe into war. We must combat them, as we would the plague, if American integrity and security are to be preserved. We cannot afford to face the future as a disunited people.

We must as a united people keep ablaze on this continent the flames of human liberty, of reason, of democracy and of fair play as living things to be preserved for the better world that is to come.

Overstatement, bitterness, vituperation, and the beating of drums, have contributed mightily to ill-feeling and wars between nations. If these unnecessary and unpleasant actions are harmful in the international field, they are also hurtful in the domestic scene. Peace among ourselves would seem to have some of the advantage of peace between us and other nations. And in the long run history amply demonstrates that angry controversy rarely wins less than calm discussion.

In the spirit, therefore, of a greater unselfishness, recognizing that the world—including the United States of America—passes through perilous times, I am very hopeful that the closing session of the seventy-sixth congress will consider the needs of the nation and of humanity with calmness, tolerance and cooperative wisdom.

May the year 1940 be pointed to

Hull Still Talked Of as Candidate Despite Denials

Republican Leaders Turn Down Bids to Jackson Day Dinner

Washington —(AP)—Talk that Secretary Hull's bid might eventually fall in the presidential ring still ran through political conversations today, even though Hull pasted a "no candidate" band on it.

Hull told reporters yesterday he had no personal political ambitions, and state department authorities said he did not want to mix political and departmental affairs.

Shortly afterward, President Roosevelt laughingly remarked at his press conference that political stories indicating he would support Hull had been written in 1939 and he hoped the writers would turn over a new leaf in 1940. That, he said, ought to hold somebody.

The chief executive did not elaborate. Neither would he comment on a recent statement by Rexford G. Tugwell, former resettlement administrator, that the people should decide who their second choice would be if Mr. Roosevelt did not run for a third term.

Turn Down Bids
Sharing interest with Hull's declaration was the decision of Republican congressional leaders to turn down bids to attend the Democrats' $100-a-plate Jackson day dinner next Monday.

House Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass.) wrote Homer Cummings, chairman of the dinner:

"I quite agree with you it is a bit unusual for me to be invited to attend a dinner which is held for the avowed purpose of raising funds for the Democratic 1940 campaign."

Martin said if funds from the dinner were to be devoted to some non-partisan cause, like the Red Cross or Finnish relief, he would be happy to enter into the meeting with a real non-partisan spirit.

Cummings had written that President Roosevelt would make a non-partisan address at the dinner, and hoped that Republican leaders would attend.

Senators McNary of Oregon, the minority leader, and Austin of Vermont, assistant minority leader, also declined the invitation.

Republicans Wipe Out Half of Debt From '36 Campaign

Collect 200 Contributions Of $1,000 or More in 2-Day Period

Washington —(AP)—The Republican National committee, in an intensive year-end drive for campaign funds, eliminated last month almost half of the debt outstanding from the 1936 campaign.

In a report to the clerk of the house, the committee said it had collected $1,092,037 during 1939. More than 200 individual contributions of $1,000 or more were listed for the 2-day period Dec. 29-30. The committee also stated that $300,000 of the year's collection was earmarked for payment on the $555,000 debt outstanding last Dec. 1. An additional sum of $200,000 has been pledged.

The Democratic National committee reported that while it started the current year with a net cash balance of $1,972, it owed $219,138. The Democrats disclosed that they had $10,330 cash on hand Jan. 1, 1939, and that during 1939 they received $731,116 and spent $738,709.

Highlights of Roosevelt's Message on State of Union

Washington —(AP)—Some outstanding sentences from President Roosevelt's message to congress on the state of the Union:

The overwhelming majority of our fellow citizens do not abandon in the slightest their hope and expectation that the United States will not become involved in military participation in the war.

We do not have to go to war with other nations, but at least we can strive with other nations to encourage the kind of peace that will lighten the troubles of the world, and by so doing help our own nation as well.

There are those who wishfully insist, in innocence or ignorance or both, that the United States of America as a self-contained unit can live happily and prosperously, its future secure, inside a high wall of isolation while, outside, the rest of civilization and the commerce and culture of mankind are shattered.

I hope that we will have fewer American ostriches in our midst. It is not good for the ultimate health of ostriches to bury their heads in the sand.

The trade agreements act should be extended as an indispensable part of the foundation of any stable and durable peace.

Democrats Lean Toward Garner For Nomination if Roosevelt Doesn't Want a Third Term

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J. — As Congress comes back to Washington amid an electric political atmosphere and with the third-term mystery still unsettled, a nationwide survey of rank-and-file Democrats shows two salient facts about Democratic party sentiment throughout the United States:

First, despite a slight decline in the number of Democrats who name him for 1940, President Roosevelt is still by all odds the leading popular choice of his party's voters for the Presidential nomination. Nearly four Democrats in every five with opinions on the question (78%) say they would like to see Roosevelt re-elected.

Second, if President Roosevelt is not a candidate, the leading Democratic choice is bushy-browed John N. Garner, who threw his hat squarely into the political ring a fortnight ago with the statement: "I will accept the nomination for President."

Since the survey was partially begun before the Garner announcement, the full effect of the Vice President's move cannot yet be determined. But the survey shows that Mr. Garner's popular standing has increased somewhat since the previous test and that President Roosevelt's has dropped proportionately.

Finally the survey shows that — next to Mr. Garner — the leading popular Democratic choice in the case the President refuses to run are Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Postmaster General Jim Farley, and Attorney General Frank Murphy. The survey also reveals the names of some two dozen other Democratic figures who have popular support of lesser dimensions at this time.

In the first two questions the Institute asked a cross-section of Democratic voters in all parts of the United States: "Whom would you like to see elected President in 1940?" The following figures show how voters answered the question as compared with two months ago:

3 Men Hold Power Of Life or Death Over Labor Unions

Confirmation of This Fact Given by Supreme Court—Lawrence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Confirmation has come from the supreme court of the United States that congress has delegated absolutely to three men in the United States the power of life or death over labor unions, national, independent or local, and that there is no court review possible as between unions under the present Wagner act where the issue relates to the nature of the bargaining unit or the conduct of elections to choose a bargaining agent.

Where the labor board excluded from the ballot a union that had come out second in an election in which there were three names on the ballot—A. F. of L., CIO and "no union"—the supreme court now says congress gave the board the right to do so. In the political world, when there is a run-off election, the two candidates who receive the highest number of votes are put on the ballot and the third, or lowest, is excluded. The board can exclude whichever name it wishes, it now appears, and the supreme court says there is no right of review or appeal belonging to any union or employee.

"It seems to be thought," said the supreme court in a unanimous opinion, "that this failure to provide for a court review is productive of peculiar hardships which were perhaps not foreseen in cases where the interests of rival unions are affected. But these arguments are to be addressed to congress and not the courts." What the supreme court has said, in effect, is that, if the labor unions do not like the rigidity of the present statute, they can ask congress to amend it.

Decision Final
As a matter of fact, this corroboration of the labor board's power over so-called representation cases means that, if the board wants to grant bargaining rights to a craft or industrial union, its own decision as to the existence of a majority is final unless there is an election held, in which case the board can say what names shall go on or be excluded from the ballot.

If the employer accepts the outcome of the election, the aggrieved union cannot under the Wagner labor relations law obtain a court review. It has been suggested that redress might be obtained by filing an equity proceeding in a district court, but this method is a dubious one and has not been tried out as yet.

Did congress intend to make the labor board the final judge of what is the appropriate unit and who shall be recognized as a majority when the dispute is between two rival unions? An employer, of course, can refuse to recognize the board's decision and thus force a court review of the whole matter of elections and the facts relating to the selection of a bargaining agent, but a labor union has no such privilege.

The argument in favor of letting the labor board be the final judge of what constitutes an appropriate unit is that this is the only way to expedite the bargaining process, since, otherwise, court action would tie up and delay the whole thing. If, however, an administrative body is to have discretionary powers and there is to be no court review, the tendency of congress in the past has been to specify legislative standards so as to minimize the opportunities for unfairness or unjust decisions.

What Congress Can Do
Thus, congress could amend the existing provisions of the Wagner law relating to appropriate unit or to the conduct of elections by specifying what shall be done when no union or group gets a majority and when a run-off election shall be given. Likewise, congress could specify that any organization could be put on the ballot when, by signatures to a petition, it was revealed that at least 20 per cent of the employees wished to have their union or the no-union alternative placed on the ballot. To write these matters into the law itself is to remove a great area of controversy.

The objection to following such a course might be that company-dominated unions would be given a place on the ballot, whereas the board feels they should be eliminated altogether. At present, the question of whether a union is company-dominated usually arises when the employer, in order to get a court review, declines to recognize the results of an election or of a claimed representation. The labor board's view as to whether a union is company-dominated then comes up for court review, and occasionally the board has been reversed in its judgment as to what is a company-dominated or truly independent union.

If a company-union won an election, the board could still order it disestablished and the case would come up for review, because the company would insist that it was not guilty of an unfair labor practice—an issue which can be appealed to the higher courts.

The supreme court's rulings are timely because congress will soon have before it the whole subject of strengthening the collective bargaining process through removal of opportunities for exploitation by employer or by agents of an alleged majority of workers.

COURT GETS POINT—
Houston, Tex. —(AP)—Hauled into court on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon—a hunting knife with a 4 1/2 inch blade—an 18-year-old youth had a ready defense.

"That knife is a sandwich maker," said he. "I've cut lots of bread and spread a lot of jelly with it."

"Son, I'm going to let you go, but I want you to keep your knives shorter and spread your jelly thinner," replied the judge.

SOCIALISM AND OPIUM

Mr. Dewey selected an apt expression when he referred to many of the New Deal measures as "creeping socialism," an expression likely to raise in the minds of readers that dread morose known as creeping paralysis.

Socialism has produced most of the immediate miseries of the day. It gave Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini. And it has given us their works.

One of Socialism's principal attacks is crystallized in the expression, "Religion is the people's opiate that drugs them into insensibility."

That expression was the smartest and most cunning ever coined. For it has turned out that Socialism itself was the opiate that was to dull men's senses while those who used it put the steel wrist-lets over their hands.

Socialism is an opiate because, as originally written, it disarmed and destroyed opposition with its kindness, its brotherhood and its equality. It was that opium that drowsed the Russian masses until they awoke to find themselves in the hands of masters by the side of which Simon Legree was a good fairy.

Mussolini was a product of Socialism. And as he preached its impractical and impossible tenets he noticed his auditors becoming drowsy-eyed in their trustfulness and conceived the idea of coining their foolishness into his strength and power.

Hitler was so well acquainted with the benumbing effects of Socialism's preachments that he employed the word Socialist as part of the official name of his anti-social party.

Insofar as the New Deal in America has employed the practical principles of progressive political action it has succeeded. Insofar as it has employed the Socialist hypodermic it has failed.

The man who awakens in jittery condition after hitting the Chinese pipe is in precisely the same shape as America in its tremors over the Socialistic experiments.

"Beware the dangers of alcohol," wrote patent medicine fakers whose "remedies" were 80 per cent alcohol. "Stop thief!" shouts the miscreant running down the street at some decent fellow minding his own business. And the greatest dope maker of all time, the Socialist party, screams imprecations against religion lest it drug the masses into insensibility.

In a way it has been a pity to prevent the slickers who used to follow the county fairs from operating their games. The best work was done by a fellow with a little pea and three little shells. He always introduced his game with a discussion of honesty and aimed bitter words at tricksters.

FIGURES SOMETIMES TELL TALES

Charles Fahy, general counsel for the National Labor Relations Board has brought forth some figures which he says "conclusively refute" the charge that the C.I.O. has been running the board with a high hand.

Mr. Fahy's evidence consists of the fact that the A.F. of L. and C.I.O. unions have fared about equally before the board in the number of decisions entered.

This may attract a little approval but certainly not if an investigator pushes beyond the portal.

Giving the C.I.O. an even break with A.F. of L. in the number of decisions may have been the rankest favoritism. Decisions respecting the rights between great organizations must not depend upon the number of controversies between them but upon the merits of those controversies. One decision for the C.I.O. might be worth a hundred decisions for the A.F. of L., depending upon what was decided, and the extent of the decision in affecting somewhat similar situations where the judgment of the board was accepted as final without further ado.

The house committee examining the labor board was doing an excellent work because it was preventing just such an argument as Mr. Fahy's from taking root in too many minds. It was outwitting those who would plaster some figures devised to suit their own purposes as an answer to all criticism by making a specific analysis of the decisions, the evidence involved, the merits between conflicting organizations, the highly partisan method of arriving at decisions, all with the conclusion that C.I.O. was running the Board just about as it pleased and taking everything by way of decision that it dared take, throwing such scraps to the A.F. of L. as might make an appearance of fair figures with which to answer the criticism to be expected over decisions that were reprehensible.

THE STATE OF THE UNION

Rumblings as to the unrest prevailing in the governments of foreign countries do not enhance the outlook for the coming year for the world as a whole.

There are dire reports from Moscow to the effect that a new and far-reaching purge is underway, one which will end the careers of many outstanding communists including even Foreign Commissar Molotov. From Berlin the grapevine stories come concerning a split between Hitler and his strong man Goering. London and Paris, too, are beset by unrest concerning the policies of the governments now in power.

These rumblings have naturally reached into the populace, splitting the peoples into warring camps which may flare forth into revolutions far more serious for the men who have started the second World War than their recent battles, mostly sham.

At New Year's, these peoples are as baffled as ever as to the true conditions within their homelands. But at New Year's, we in the United States of America were awaiting the annual message of the President on the state of the union, which is probably a more direct report of our life and times, our assets and liabilities, than that given in any country. To us it is a usual occurrence because it is the American way to keep in the open the meanderings, for good or for bad, of our governing bodies. To most of Europe, such an event would be a godsend.

A wise New Year's resolution for America would be to set a good example of true democracy, the principle for which half the world says it is fighting. By living it and not fighting for it with guns we have a far better chance of helping to convince others that it is worthy of preservation. The state of the union is of vital importance to the world in general, and such a report, devoid of rumor and suspicion, is a bulwark to us and an auspicious beginning for the New Year.

A WISE VETO

It was a wise mayor who overrode the vote of his city councilmen in deciding to veto a proposed ruling to delete the words "Lennin" and "Leningrad" from all printed matter in the city of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Such actions, while inspired by a love of freedom and loathing of totalitarianism, nevertheless reflect an intolerance not in keeping with our traditions.

During the World War, various communities changed names of streets, buildings and landmarks, in an effort to erase from the landscape any trace of our enemy. These changes have since been deplored by those who realize the futility of trying to stamp out natural influences and have been a cause of shame to those who know the injustices resulting from such veritable censorship.

Freedom of the press and of speech are still two of our firmest safeguards against the encroachment of isms, and keeping the news from every side available to all the people is a sure way of keeping their minds open.

Cambridge is the seat of much culture, and much of the literature it houses refers to the country against which the proposal was directed. It would be a definite blow to freedom of thought were the resolution passed.

The mayor deserves commendation for his wisdom in deciding to let it die a quiet death "in the pocket of my old blue serge suit," a truly American decision couched in truly American words.

THE ARCTIC WAR TO DATE

"He could fight like a Finn" is likely to become a top expression among those that portray men's admiration for prowess.

To date Russia looks like one of those low-browed hulking slugs sometimes seen in a prize ring lumbering around trying to find its adversary in spite of the blood in its eyes.

It is the greatest demonstration of modern days of what a civilized, free-thinking, peace-loving people can do to the organized hoodlums of the world.

But of course it cannot go on forever. Even mud, enough of it, can suffocate. And an army of millions, however lacking in brains or intelligent direction, can overcome an army of a few hundred thousand, however courageous or efficient, simply by tiring them out. The strain of war, of killing, of quick marches and sudden onslaughts, of wounds and hurried naps, will wear the Finns down more than the Russians have given any evidence to date of their ability to subdue them.

Finland must have help. No doubt the 10,000 Swedes who volunteered to go to her aid do not begin to represent the aid she may be getting from other Scandinavian countries. But Scandinavia's population is not high even though its fitness for the struggle is.

It is difficult to believe that the western powers are not fully aware both of the merits of the Finns and of the high desirability of helping them take the stale air out of that wind-bag called Russia.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York — The city is dismal and dejected when it rains, especially in winter when it should snow instead. Umbrellas multiply traffic and increase the hazards of pedestrianism. The havoc to women's hose is incalculable, and to their hats, too—though I can't become too unhappy over that.

Cabbies pray for sudden showers, for rain means a great deal to them. Policemen curse it, for it doubles their dilemma, always a sorry one even when the day is clean. Business men see the downpours writing different stories upon their books, mostly bad. A long, unrelenting rain which keeps people indoors makes theatre owners especially very sad, especially the movies. It is not unlikely that a continuing rain over a period of several days might affect some of the smaller night clubs so unfavorably as to mark the difference between profit and loss in the year.

As the weather goes, so goes the city. Bright days lure people to the parks, to bus rides, to shopping expeditions. An old fashioned snowstorm invariably upsets the city's aplomb, at the same time delighting its people, for to city folk snow is the glamour girl of winter.

Down the street from where I live there is a cleric who has his parishioners in quite a dither. New York, he keeps telling them, is about to be shaken by an earthquake.

The information comes to me second-hand. I do not go to his church. If I did, I wouldn't be in much of a mood to listen to pulpitering on the subject of something horrible being in the offing. He seems, however, to have made a deep impression on his flock, some of whom are all set for the great shake he prophesies. When the papers told of earth tremors near Baltimore a few weeks ago, the clergyman nodded his head sagely, as much as to say: "I told you so." If earthquakes can occur in Baltimore, they can occur in New York.

The good man, as I get it, is a bit vague as to why there will be an earthquake here. His reasoning seems to be a combination of science, philosophy and quotations from the Bible. It may even be that he has had a Vision. Such things have happened.

I have heard that there have been earthquakes in New York, a long time ago. Most authorities consider the chances of any serious tremors now quite remote. That such a disaster would be most frightful, all agree. The great skyscrapers which withstand gales and even hurricanes could hardly maintain their poise if the earth had a spasm.

One of the parishioners who has given much thought to the predictions, thinks the worried clergyman really means that there ought to be an earthquake — that he is so depressed about the city's sin situation that he doesn't see how the good Lord can be patient much longer; and that therefore there will be an earthquake.

That could easily be, of course. The clergyman errs, however, in seeing city sin at a new high. It remains about static year in, year out. If anything, it is less than it was ten years ago. That's merely my opinion. It may only be that I am less of a sinner myself than I used to be, though I doubt it.

Come to think of it, I guess there is as much sense in predicting an earthquake as there is to prophesy (as they are doing right along) that the world is headed for chaos socially and politically. It would be much worse to have the lugubrious social predictions come true than the one about the earthquake.

For myself, I doubt if the Good Man knows what he's talking about. Nevertheless, if there is to be an earthquake in New York, I want none of it. I am therefore putting my house in order and arranging to get out of town about the middle of January. I hope the earthquake in the interim can control itself.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

ONLY A DOG!

Only a dog, and yet
How lonely the place is!
We mourn for our absent pet
With dolorous faces!
Gone is the lure from the road.
We no longer stride
With joy in the brisk winter day
Our dog by our side!

Only a dog, and still
We speak of her sadly!
Whistle her home with a wail!
We would welcome her gladly!
Gone is the tug at the leash,
The tap at the door.
Our good silent comrade will run
To greet us no more!

Only a dog, but we miss
The friendship she proffered!
Often on mornings like this
We scorned what she offered,
And busy with our own affairs
We went on our way.
We all would take time to be kind
If she came home today!

freckish and most insolvent of these, is the scheme of Ethiopian settlement (Lase Tsana) proposed by a Dutchman named Gildemeester. Apart from the absurdity of his fantastic scheme to colonize Jews where Italian men and resources have failed, the proponent is known to have cooperated with the Gestapo in Vienna. Without prejudice, it may be said that this circumstance is slightly disqualifying for leadership of a Jewish cause. In addition, without previous consultation, as far as is known, with responsible Jews, Gildemeester cabled an appeal for huge governmental help to the president of the United States. The latter, it is safe to say, consigned the Gildemeester scheme to the capacious White House waste-basket. When shall we have an end of these mocking, taunting appeals on behalf of Jews, these large-spoken promises almost solely, morally, financially or politically, to rehabilitate their authors! The cry of the Jewish people is bitter enough without being further embittered by offers of help, whether from Jews or non-Jews, which are insincere and self-seeking and therefore futile.—Opinion.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — President Roosevelt enters the last year of his second (and maybe his last) term in booming health and good spirits.

He has his ups and downs although the incredible burdens of the presidency would keep an average man mostly down. The most evident reason for his present booming disposition is the positive position he has taken in foreign affairs. He is far from his best when on the defensive. Probably his all-time "low" in spirits came during and after the Supreme Court fight of 1937.

Likes The Offensive
He likes the fighting side, the aggressive side, rather than the defensive. Most men do. It is a military axiom that the soldier on the offensive is normally highest in morale. Just now, President Roosevelt is on the aggressive on three fronts in foreign affairs, a field in which he is particularly happy in any event.

He is putting real heat on Russia by advancing aid to the Finns. He is widening the "pressure area" around Japan, whose trade treaty with us is about to expire at a time when she most needs this trade.

His "good neighbor" policy just now is moving into a solid hemisphere front directed at driving the European sea warfare away from our Atlantic doorway.

Keep Up With The Budget
Several weeks ago a cold kept him out of the executive office, but he did not avoid much work. He couldn't. The foreign situation was moving through important stages. Moreover, he was wrestling with the budget.

In connection with the budget his intimate advisors noted his uncanny power of "comeback" after a rainy day. After day, often until past the midnight hour, he would take up one department's request after another, his budget staff around him, supplemented by representatives of the departments under consideration.

One of them told us that after six hours of late night wrestling with a budget he was virtually strangled. Butday was about to appear when the party broke up after midnight. Next morning, so our informant said, he felt beaten and whipped himself, but the President was apparently fresh as an apple, although he had been going on with such a schedule for weeks.

Hospitals Proposed
During such periods of high spirits, he fires his help to a rollicking enthusiasm for new and exciting moves. He can blow a comparatively minor story into front page proportions.

Within the past few weeks he front-paged a hospital story that was mere peanuts so far as financial matters were concerned, although the hospital idea is always a big one in any man's country. He didn't miss his usual sense of timing by putting it out almost on Christmas eve, when charity sentiments are at their peak.

He spoke of putting federal money into hospitals into areas which now do not have hospital services, many of them in the South. For such a hospital as he had in mind, $150,000 would suffice, he said. A hundred such hospitals would cost only $15,000,000. A dozen cruisers are now on the ways, each costing that much or more.

The man who succeeds him, in one year or five years from now, will have to eat plenty of vitamins to keep up the pace.

Party Is Given at N. P. Neilson Dwelling

Bear Creek — Mrs. Hiram Jepson of Green Bay and Mrs. Sylvester Jepson of route 1, entertained at a party Sunday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Irving Neilson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Neilson on route 1. The time was spent playing fish, with honors awarded to Miss Katherine Bates, Mrs. G. E. Daggett, and Mrs. Frank Bacheller. Lunch was served. Guests included Mrs. James Neilson, Mrs. George Daggett, Mrs. Oliver Neilson, Mrs. Peter Neilson, Mrs. John Stewart, Miss Katherine Bates, Mrs. Fred Lehman, Mrs. Oliver Roberts, Mrs. Frank Bacheller, Mrs. George Oshaghar, Mrs. Herbert Poppe of this locality and Mrs. Ed Richardson of New London.

Six o'clock dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles P. Dempsey on New Year's eve were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGlaughlin, Clintonville; Robert McGlaughlin, student at St. Norbert's college, De Pere; Clifford McGlaughlin of Lake Torchawick.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lowney and sons, accompanied by Sister Anastasia and Miss Eleanor Johnson motored to Bay Settlement Sunday where they visited Sister Mary Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowney and other friends at the Sisters' home. On their return trip they were accompanied here by Sister Jerome and Sister Benigna, sisters of St. Mary's school.

Miss Carmen Landron of Puerto Rico, who attends Mount Mary college, Milwaukee; Joseph Landron, Puerto Rico, student at Syracuse college, New York; and Miss Mary Alice and Jack Flanagan of Kaukauna were Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Dempsey.

St. Mary's school opened Tuesday after the Christmas recess. Bear Creek High school will open Monday, Jan. 8.

A meeting of the Band Boosters club will be held at the High school Wednesday evening, Jan. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pullaro of Chicago were Sunday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Malliet.

TEACHER GOT $17.50 A YEAR
Chicopee, Mass.—School teaching wasn't a profitable profession in Chicopee in 1713—it paid 34 cents a week. The WPA Historical Records Survey has discovered that a "Miss Cooley" was paid a total of $17.50 for a whole year's teaching.

GORDIAN KNOT
Paris (AP)—Out-of-work mayors in France have no right to unemployment insurance, the municipal unemployment board of Ormesson ruled.

Communist Mayor Gauthier was among his party members ousted from office during Premier Edouard Daladier's drive against French Communists.

Out of work, the ex-mayor of Ormesson applied for unemployment aid. He was refused by the ruling board on the grounds that the mayorality is a public privilege and not a profession.

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Another absorbing year in Wisconsin politics has passed. For those to whom the ending of a game between the ins and outs has been the appeal of the stage for the first-nighter, 1939 was a fascinating show.

Leading man in the Wisconsin division was a round fellow whose name was introduced for the first time to his fellow citizens only a little more than 18 months ago, Julius P. Heil. Julius P. Heil came from the obscurity of big business to the limelight of politics under his own power. Economically self-made, he repeated his triumph in politics, and as 1940 opens one of the biggest questions of the day concerns the direction of his ambition.

TO REPEAT?
If anyone had asked any one of the dozen or so professional chroniclers of politics at the capitol six or even four months ago, about Heil's future, and had persuaded him to reply, he would have predicted either retirement or defeat in November.

That such a prediction will no longer be so easily obtained is a measure of the progress the governor has made in the last few weeks in marshalling public support behind him and his policies in administering the state government.

Most observers now believe that he will run for reelection—barring a turn for the worse in his wife's condition—and many of them will give him an even chance to be re-elected.

TREND FORWARD
The anti-Heil trend which observers found so noticeable that it could not be ignored six months ago, and which led some politicians to jump off the band-wagon—including some in the legislature—has not only been halted, it has been reversed. A pro-Heil sentiment is clearly on the ascendant, although how powerful it is only an election can tell of course.

A close examination of editorial comment today and a comparison with the comment of the editors of the same papers half a year ago shows a tolerance, a support, and a cooperative attitude which was not apparent then.

There are many reasons for the turn. First is the fact, that Heil now dominates the capitol scene. He is the big man in the show now for the first time. For the nine months of 1939 during which the administration slid backward in public esteem he shared attention with a bickering, proud, temperamental, and not wholly unselfish legislature.

Now he is putting into effect policies about which he only talked during the first year of his term. The people of Wisconsin have been taught to put action above words. They listened to the speeches, and got tired of waiting for the performance. Now that payrolls are being reduced, budgets tapped, etc., the Heil policy is becoming popular again.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

MODERN MEDICINE

A reader sends a clipping in which a doctor, as the reporter puts it, said that "in many of the 1000 cases of deafness which he studied the cause could be attributed directly to quinine." The reader asks whether I have an alibi, and says "You cannot both be right."

Before I go into the ring against the doctor, let us see what he really said about quinine and deafness. He said the percentage of patients who had a history of having taken quinine was four times greater among 234 cases of nerve deafness than among 832 cases of other than nerve deafness.

Perhaps one individual in a thousand has what is known as an idiosyncrasy and should never take quinine at all. I have never encountered such a person except once, and I had to forego the option of the lady's claim because she was quite firm about it and besides she was high strung and had extremely sensitive nerves—and you know how I am about that.

Millions of malaria, influenza, grip, cri, myotonia, heart, enuresis, chorea, whooping cough and exophthalmic goitre patients and their doctors can't be wrong. I believe this doctor who discovered that a good many deaf patients had taken quinine is wrong. Every doctor knows that overdose of quinine, taken intentionally or by mistake, may cause temporary deafness.

I reassure all readers who follow my teachings that quinine is still an excellent remedy for a number of common ailments and in my judgment it is far safer than many other medicines which the public uses with little discrimination and against which few doctors have the courage to warn the public.

The latest edition of my monograph "Quinine in Modern Medicine" tells how to use quinine as a home remedy. Ask for next time, you write me, inclosing a stamped envelope bearing your address. Let me quote two sentences from the Quinine monograph:

"In short we may regard quinine as an all-around tonic, inhibitor, restrainer or holder-backer." (These effects partly explain its value, against stage fright, examination jitters and in preventing exhaustion from any ordeal.)

"If any medicine under the sun deserves the name of 'cri cure' (cold cure to you) it is that old stand-by, quinine." (I recommend it as a prophylactic against cri, in the season when respiratory infections are more or less prevalent if not epidemic, two grains of quinine sulphate before or after food three times a day, in tablet, pill or capsule, for adults; for children weighing half as much as adults, one grain three times daily; for younger children, perhaps one grain twice or only once daily.)

Further details as to the treatment of such infections are given in the monograph.

If there were a reasonable doubt concerning the harmlessness of quinine I would never plump for it as I do.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

Hindsight and Foresight

It is the fashion to think poorly of hindsight, but as a matter of fact there is no way to learn foresight except by studying the past. Unless we fancy ourselves to be endowed with prophetic genius, we can improve our estimates of the future only by remembering which of our former estimates have turned out to be right, which wrong, and, if possible, why.

The past twenty-five years provide abundant material for the exercise of hindsight, and as I look back at the false hopes and the false fears by which I have been misled, it seems to me that what I ought to have learned is to distinguish between what might be called the movement of events and the currents of opinion which accompany events. For sometimes the opinion of the moment is the truth about what is really happening. Often it is not the truth. When the opinion is true, it is like the wind which causes the incoming tide to rise higher, and when the opinion is false, it blows against the tide, holds it back a bit, but does not cause the tide to turn.

In critical moments of decision the men whose judgment has been proved to be correct have been, so I have learned, those men who discounted the opinions and theories and ideologies of the moment, relying upon a knowledge of history and the logic of human behavior.

It's Easy to Predict Rebellion in Future

They foresaw, for example, that the spirit of the Versailles settlement must lead to an embittered rebellion in Germany, knowing that a people which has enjoyed independence cannot for long be kept in subjection. They can now foresee that the spirit of the immeasurably more cruel settlement which Germany has imposed on the conquered nations must, in the nature of things, lead to an even more embittered rebellion. On past experience it was predictable that Versailles could not endure, and that prediction was correct; by the same experience it is predictable now that Berchtesgaden cannot last, and will go down in violence.

In the past six years the soundest judgments have been made, it seems to me, not by men who had the latest inside reports at first hand or second hand but by those who relied upon simple and rather commonplace generalities. It is a simple commonplace generality to say that a vindictive treaty like Versailles could not endure, or that a fierce oppression like that which is now practiced in central Europe must cause men to rebel. There are other generalities of the same sort, and on the whole they are more serviceable than complex and ingenious theories.

Simple Factors Are Governing Developments

The Spanish revolution and the civil war which followed it are a case in point. There was once an opinion current that Spain would convert itself into a parliamentary democracy; then, that it would convert itself into a socialist republic; then, that it would become fascist and totalitarian. None of these opinions was true. The simple fact was that parliamentary democracy is quite alien to the traditional habits of the Spanish people, and those who knew Spain foresaw that. The simple fact was also that the social structure of Spain is profoundly Catholic and Mediterranean; therefore it could not be rebuilt on a pattern developed in central Russia or in northern Germany. It was also feared or hoped that General Franco's Spain would join the "Axis." But that was based on an illusion about the Axis, and upon forgetfulness of the simple geographical fact that Spain is virtually an island surrounded by seas in which the British and French navies are supreme.

Italy is an even more interesting illustration of how the simple realities outweigh the elaborate appearances. Few diplomatic arrangements have been more ferociously advertised than the Rome-Berlin Axis. But the true prophets were those who said that Italy is virtually an island and that, therefore, Italy will never fight against the predominant sea power; and they are probably right when they say that Italy will take her place eventually on the winning side. These generalities might be wrong. But they are less likely to be wrong than current opinion based on speculation and propaganda.

1940 Probably Will Be Year Of Great Battles

Russia is an even better example of how much more reliable is a judgment based on simple and commonplace generalities than one based on near-sighted intricate knowledge. The bulk of opinion in the democratic countries believed until the end of August of this year in the liberalism of Soviet foreign policy and in the military power of Russia. But the men who were right about Russia, only a handful here and there, held that on general principles a totalitarian system like Russia's cannot be efficient, and that an army which has been purged like the Russian cannot wage a successful offensive campaign, and that a regime so steeped in brutality and betrayal can never be depended upon as an ally.

It took great courage for Mr. Chamberlain to refuse to pay the price demanded by Russia for an alliance. But it showed an even greater foresight.

If now we try to reason in this fashion about Germany, what can we say about the probabilities? We knew from the experience of history that a regime like the Nazi would have to expand until it met resistance somewhere that caused a great war. We know from the past that when a war begins in which the issue is not local, limited and specific, but is the general issue of European supremacy, then that war does not end until the issue is decided. There may be a truce: there were five or six truces in the Napoleonic era, but a war of this character ends either in the victory of the conqueror or in this downfall.

We know, too, from past experience that the nations which command the seas will win such a war unless the conqueror can strike decisively at the inner citadel of sea power. Therefore, it will be prudent to expect that at some time in the next eighteen months, perhaps even at the end of this winter, Hitler must strike with all his force at the British and French. He may not do that. If he does not, the forecast will be most agreeably wrong. For it will mean that the war can end without the devastation of Europe. But we shall be less likely to deceive ourselves if we expect 1940 to be a year of great and historically decisive battles.

'Security Zone' Plan

Dangerous, Taft Says

Washington —(AP)— Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Tuesday the "security zone" neutrality principle put forward by Latin American nations was unworkable and dangerous.

"It seems to me to be a perfectly indefensible policy to say that the German and British fleets can not conduct battles within 300 miles of American shores," Taft declared at a press conference, adding: "It is a policy that we can't carry out, and I don't see why we should try to. It tends to involve us in disputes with foreign countries which might conceivably lead to war later on."

A contender for the Republican presidential nomination, Taft returned recently from a series of speech-making trips. He said he had received "a very good reception."

1,219 New Homes Erected in City In Last Decade

Total Estimated Value $4,979,727; Average Cost Is $4,085

Parallel to the growth of Appleton's population during the last decade was the increase in the number of new residences built in the city, according to a report compiled by John A. Pierre, building inspector.

Since 1929 a total of 1,219 new homes were erected at an estimated cost of $4,979,727 for an average of $4,085.09 per home. The figures used are building permit estimates and do not reflect the true value, which is somewhat higher.

During 1939 builders erected 140 new homes in the city, a figure topped only in 1937, 1936, 1935 and 1929. Home construction reached a high in 1929 when 150 new dwellings were built and then, with the depression years dropped off to 36 in 1930, 58 in 1931, 59 in 1932, 45 in 1933 for a new low, and 48 in 1934.

To give builders an added incentive to finance construction, taxes were waived on new homes built during the three years after 1934 and the houses built during those years were tax free until the 1937 roll was announced.

Increase in 1935

The governmental offer immediately was effective as reflected in the home construction from 48 in 1934 to 144 in 1935. Cheaper money then helped construction, along with the introduction of the Federal Housing Administration, which offered money for homes with small down payments.

Home construction leaped to 163 new houses in 1936, the highest number for any year in the decade. The figure dropped to 156 homes in 1937, then to 150 in 1938 and climbed back to 140 last year. The first building permit issued this year was for a $12,000 home.

Following are listed the estimated home values for the years since 1928: 1928, $551,000; 1929, $475,450; 1930, $391,500; 1931, $227,530; 1932, $164,750; 1933, $143,250; 1934, $512,475; 1935, $661,335; 1937, $701,837; 1938, $555,700; 1939, $584,700.

Hegner Is Named Head of Paralysis Drive for County

Celebration of President's Birthday Will be Climax of Campaign

William F. Hegner, Appleton attorney, has been appointed chairman of the President's Birthday ball committee for Outagamie county.

The parties to be held Jan. 30 in almost every city in the United States, are to raise money for the national and local fight against infantile paralysis.

Hegner announced today that H. L. Davis, Jr., president of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be in charge of raising the money in Appleton. Davis will be aided by the Jaces who will sponsor the birthday ball and the "march of dimes" started several years ago.

The county chairman said he will announce other chairmen for the county within a few days and Davis is working on the various committees for Appleton.

Proceeds of the drive will be divided equally between the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and a local organization to be formed this year. Andrew Parnell, last year's chairman, started the formation of a local organization to distribute funds raised and Hegner said his work will be completed this year.

The drives, started four years ago, have netted about $450 in Appleton. The fund still is intact, Davis said, and the new organization will be formed to distribute that money and whatever amount is raised this year.

Board Votes to Complete Slide, Ski Jump at Park

Toboggan Run May Be Added if Money Is Available

The Appleton Park board yesterday voted to complete the construction of a ski slide and jump in Pierce park, south of the railroad tracks, according to Erik Madisen, secretary.

The park board originally appropriated $200 to finance city's end of a WPA project plus help from the members of the Appleton Ski club. The $218,000 storm sewer project took all available WPA workers and the project was dropped.

A. James Lytle, Jr., consulting engineer, has donated his services to the Ski club and the action of the board yesterday will make a ski jump and slide possible, probably this winter.

If enough money is available, a toboggan slide will be built near the ski slide. The winter sports site is expected to attract youngsters from all parts of the city and keep them from sliding on the streets.

The board also decided to fill the Bellaire park ravine to the level of the sewer pipe running through it, thereby making the area level and the south slope. Cooperating will be the Appleton street department.

Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer, said rubbish from city collections will be used for part of the fill and the remainder will be earth hauled from the former Schultz property. Only the best rubbish will be used and the area will be backfilled with earth to keep it looking clean until the work is finished.

County Has Fewer Killed, Injured but More 1939 Accidents

Outagamie county's traffic safety record in 1939 showed an improvement over 1938, according to records of the Post-Crescent. Fifteen persons were killed on highways in the county last year as compared to eighteen the preceding year.

A total of 317 accidents was recorded with 256 injured as against 313 accidents and 274 hurt in 1938.

In Appleton, six persons were killed during 1939 in traffic accidents, while in 1938 none was killed. A total of 213 accidents with 63 persons hurt was recorded as against 204 accidents and 73 hurt in 1938, according to Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the police traffic division.

A drop in the number of accidents involving bicyclists last year is credited to the police department's bicycle safety program. Six persons were hurt in eleven bicycle accidents in 1939 as compared to eleven bicycle accidents in 1938 as compared to nine hurt in fourteen accidents during 1938.

Reports Disclose Farmers in Favor Of Milk Program

Plants Already Notice Improvement in Quality, Agent Says

A summary of reports made to the office of J. M. Magnus, county agricultural agent, on the quality milk meetings held recently in Outagamie county indicate that "a large majority of the farmers are very much in favor of the program," Magnus reported today.

Magnus said that several milk plants have reported a noticeable improvement in the quality of milk being received since the program was inaugurated. The next step will be a check-up of all milk plants by state inspectors to see that bi-weekly reports and records of methylene blue and sediment tests are being kept.

The agent said that state inspectors expect plants to make reports to their patrons not later than Jan. 15. Magnus said that conforming to the quality milk program does not mean purchase of expensive equipment and cited the following rules as being the principal factors in the program: Keep all dirt out of milk, keep milk away from strong odors, cool it as soon as possible to 50 degrees or less, and keep it cool until delivered to plant.

Magnus quoted at length from some of the reports on the milk program received from leaders at the school house meetings. Reports were received from 120 leaders out of the 125 schoolhouse meetings held. The reports showed that 1,778 farm families were represented, with a total attendance of 2,494.

Program Pleases

The county agent quoted the following passages found among the reports received:

"Appreciation was expressed for a united movement of the quality milk program and the part the farmer plays in it to make a uniform product."

"Program favorably received by the group. All farmers in attendance were interested in getting their sediment and methylene blue test reports from their factories because the majority in the past have not been receiving them so did not really know the exact condition of their milk. Think program is akey and all farmers should get 100 per cent behind it."

"The only thing wrong with the program is that it should have been started 15 or 20 years ago."

"There is no argument against clean milk."

"This meeting was a big success. Everyone was interested and determined to do his part to promote this program. Patrons of our cheese factory want to be one of the first to put their factory under the program. Any more details will be appreciated."

Holiday Season News From Europe 25 Years Ago Told of Heavy Losses in World War

BY VIOLA HELLERMANN

Christmas in Europe 25 years ago was bleaker, if that is possible, than it was this year, for the first World war began much more violently than the present one, and even on Christmas eve there was little cessation in the desperate fighting.

The day after Christmas, 1939, practically the only news from the western front Appleton readers found in their daily newspaper concerned Adolf Hitler's visit to the front-line trenches.

On Dec. 26, 1914, however, they read such grim statements as the following which came from Berlin:

"The claim that the allies left 3,000 dead on the field after the fighting about Festubert, France, is made today in an official statement. The Germans, it is declared, took as prisoners 319 men and 19 officers and captured 14 machine guns and 12 mine throwers."

An official report issued, at Paris declared that violent German attacks on Christmas eve were resumed Christmas day. There was little cessation in fighting Christmas day

Predict Colder Weather Thursday

Much Cloudiness, Light Snow Forecast Tonight and Tomorrow

Snowflakes straggled about in Appleton and vicinity today but made no impression on the landscape.

It was slightly warmer with mercury in the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building registering 20 degrees at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Highest and lowest temperatures during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 19 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 5 degrees at midnight, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Light snow and much cloudiness is predicted tonight and Thursday with colder weather tomorrow.

Maximum and minimum temperatures in the nation yesterday were 75 degrees at Miami, Fla., and 13 degrees below zero at Williston, N.D., according to the Associated Press.

Relief Clients, Businessmen at Madison Like Government's Food Stamp Plan in Operation

New System Enables Reliefers to Buy Surplus Commodities

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison, Wis.—In operation in Wisconsin's capital city on an experimental basis for the last six weeks, the federal government's new food stamp plan for the disposition of agricultural surplus commodities has won the approval and enthusiastic support of relief clients, retail businessmen, relief workers and officials in the city government.

A thoroughly novel, and therefore somewhat bold method of approaching the problem of distributing federal surplus commodity stocks to the needy, the stamp plan was launched in Madison almost two months ago. Today the reliefers acclaim it as a method of giving them more generous food orders. City relief officials praise it because it makes available a more efficient distribution of surplus stocks. Business men are enthusiastic because through it they are able to make a profit on articles which the government previously bought and shipped in carload lots to be handed out directly to relief clients.

3-Fold Objective

The stamp plan, introduced in eight selected U. S. cities—of which Madison is the only one in Wisconsin—has a three-fold objective: to move such agricultural products as are designated by the federal government as surplus commodities, and therefore to improve the farmers' market and the price system; to provide the low income classes with a better, more generous and more healthful diet allowance; and to stimulate retail trade by allowing the merchant to share in the distribution of the foodstuffs thus affected.

Under the plan each person receiving public assistance—including WPA workers, direct relief recipients, and beneficiaries of old age, blind, or mothers' pensions—is allowed to spend $6 per month per person for the purchase of orange stamps which are the equivalent of cash in the purchase of any foods at the retail store. For every dollar spent for orange stamps, the purchaser is given 50 cents worth of blue stamps free.

The blue stamps are used to buy such commodities designated as surplus, including butter, large grapefruit, dried vegetables and fruits, raisins, and others.

Revolving Fund

The city of Madison appropriated $7,500 to be used as a revolving fund for the purchase of stamps from the federal surplus commodities corporation, and to maintain an office for the administration of the plan.

Thus when the pensioner or WPA worker gets his check at the end of the month, he is able to buy $6 worth of orange stamps for each member of his family, and for every $6 he is able to buy $9 worth of food at the grocery store.

Madison merchants are enthusiastically supporting the plan, pointing out that it adds approximately $200,000 annually to the retail trade volume of the city on its present scale of operation.

The stamps turned in by relief customers are pasted into books, and cashed at the stamp office, which office in turn is reimbursed by the federal corporation for the blue stamps. Madison banks are clearing such stamps as grocers send them without charge. Merchants are enclosing notices in their advertising notices in the local newspapers advising customers that they will be glad to accept the stamps in exchange for goods.

Choice Commodities

One of the principal advantages from the point of view of the relief worker, according to Thomas Doran, city relief director here, is that it gives the relief client a chance to choose the surplus commodities he wants. Earlier the federal government frequently shipped into a community commodities in carload lots. Thus it sometimes happened that while there was no surplus flour, or cornmeal, there was plenty of grapefruit or oranges, and relief clients were given more of them than they could use. Thus waste arose, and criticism was inspired among non-relief citizens. It is also more dignified, say social workers, for the relief client to spend his stamps in regular retail outlets than to line up at the surplus commodities depot to receive a basketful of this or that.

When the stamp plan was inaugurated, federal statisticians had computed that the average American city relief budget allows about five cents per person per meal. Effect of the extra blue stamps available able under the new plan, it is explained, will be to raise that average to about 7½ cents.

May Extend Plan

Recent Washington reports indicate that the federal government plans to extend the plan to many other cities, including others in Wisconsin. According to Madison's experience, administration of such a prospect would be feasible in other Wisconsin communities, although it may possibly be more expensive in the smaller cities.

Doran suggests that extension into rural territory, or into communities smaller than 10,000 will be difficult because of the overhead expense entailed in the disbursement and cashing of the stamps. In each locality it would be necessary to maintain a stamp office. Doran has disclosed, however, that he has advised federal authorities that the federal government now "maintains the best and the biggest stamp sales organization in the world in the U. S. postoffice." If that medium were employed, he believes, the stamp plan could be operated to advantage everywhere.

The local relief office notes that relief clients took advantage of the new system almost immediately, and today, only six weeks after its inauguration, there is a participation of more than 50 per cent of the 4,000 residents here who are eligible. While only $1200 worth of stamps were sold on November 1, daily sales on December 1 had risen to $3600, and have increased correspondingly since.

"We all like it here; it's simple and practical," says Doran.

Curry to Inspect Rural Art Display In City Saturday

Outagamie County Exhibition Will be Shown At Lawrence

Rural painting by Outagamie county residents will be shown at a public exhibition in the Lawrence college library Saturday and the exhibit will be viewed by John Stuart Curry, resident artist at the University of Wisconsin. J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent, announced today.

Purpose of the exhibition, which is the first of its kind held here, will be to find paintings and other productions of art which will be shown in an exhibit at Madison during Farm and Home week, beginning Jan. 29.

Accompanying Curry, who is one of the most widely known and popular artists in America, will be Dean Chris L. Christensen of the college of agriculture at the University of Wisconsin. Dean Christensen will help Curry make the selections.

Subjects in oil, water color, wood carving, leather work, and needle work will be included in the display Saturday at the college.

Paintings and other works to be displayed must be registered at the county agent's office by Friday noon. Magnus said today that exhibitors will be both farm people at present residing on farms or those who were formerly farmers, are no longer engaged actively in agriculture, but are residing in rural communities. Another gallery will be set aside at Madison during Farm and Home week for rural subjects in painting and sculpture done by other artists, Magnus said.

Curry and Dean Christensen will be most interested in rural subjects, Magnus said. Both amateur and professional artists are invited to display their work.

Alden F. Megraw, assistant professor of art history and appreciation, is assisting Magnus in the display.

Nebraska Congressman Succumbs to Injuries

Morrilton, Ark.—Representative George H. Heinke (R-Neb.), 57, died in a hospital here last night from injuries received in an automobile accident Dec. 26.

He and Mrs. Heinke, 51, of Nebraska City, Neb., were hurt when their automobile, in which they were enroute to Washington, and another collided in a snowstorm near here. A woman in the other car was killed.

Hospital attendants said Mrs. Heinke, who suffered fractures of both legs and a broken right arm, was "doing as well as could be expected."

having the jail in the new building.

Speaking in favor of building, Supervisor Bonini said that administration costs of the county, which present are about $25,000 higher than in Winnebago county, could be cut by having a new courthouse. He also spoke of the fire hazards in the present building.

Supervisor John H. Hegner, Appleton, also spoke of the fire hazards. He said he had not heard one complaint in his ward against a new courthouse.

Supervisor John Bontsenek, Dale, who opposed building at the November session, said that the petition for a special meeting was circulated because the board had voted to build the final day of the fall meeting. It was necessary, he explained, that a motion to reconsider be made by a supervisor who had voted to build and that this was not possible at that time. He added that he was opposed to building but would abide by the wishes of the people through a referendum.

Lists Objections

Reasons for opposing a new courthouse were cited by Supervisor Armin Schaeuble, Appleton. He said that a new building would mean more insurance and the hiring of a telephone switchboard operator, an extra janitor and firemen for the boiler room which would be housed in a separate unit. He said that the people were paying the taxes and had the right to vote on whether they wanted a new courthouse.

The county's transient problem bounded back into the laps of the supervisors this morning when Captain T. A. Rober of the Salvation Army asked that some definite program be established. He proposed a ticket system for meals and lodging and said that the plan worked out successfully in Superior.

The proposal was referred to the sheriff's committee which was to report at this afternoon's session. Captain Rober said that transients have been causing trouble at the Salvation Army headquarters. The county jail was closed to transients Jan. 1 by Sheriff John Lappen who said the 10 cents per meal allotted by the county board was insufficient to take care of the costs incurred in giving the transients lodging and breakfast.

Mayor, Relief Director Would Like to Study Plan Further

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and F. A. W. Hammond, Appleton's relief director, today said they could neither approve or disapprove the federal government's new food stamp plan for the distribution of surplus commodities.

Both officials said they have only read news reports about the plan and are not familiar enough with it to be able to give opinions.

Mayor Goodland said a further study of the plan in operation is necessary before he could determine whether the stamp method of distributing surplus commodities would be feasible for Appleton.

Hammond said there were many details of the stamp plan that he didn't understand and maintained the only way to find out was for some Appleton official to go to Madison and study the project in operation.

"I couldn't give an opinion about the plan because I haven't studied it in operation and I don't know enough about the details of the system," he said.

Appleton Returns To Routine After Christmas Season

January Calendar Shows Usual Civic, School, Sports Events

Settling down to its winter routine after a burst of shopping, holiday travels and parties, Appleton is embarking on a month that will include the usual January basketball games, city council meetings, school activities and club affairs.

Special events include the formal reception which the Outagamie County Bar association will give Friday for Joseph R. McCarthy, new circuit judge, when he opens the Outagamie County calendar that day; the appearance of the Stradivarius string quartet in a Community Artists series concert Jan. 9 at Lawrence Memorial chapel; the Lawrence college charter day banquet Jan. 15 at the Conway hotel; the military ball Jan. 20 at the Conway hotel; and the Appleton Century club dance Jan. 30.

Both Appleton High school and Lawrence college will resume their basketball schedules this week, the high school playing Oshkosh here Friday and Lawrence playing against Carlton college at Northfield, Minn., the same night.

The winter sports program has been somewhat stymied because of the lack of snow. As soon as a few flakes appear, however, New London is expected to announce its ski meet. Hockey should get underway this month with the recent cold spell and the fact that the city is preparing the Jones park hockey rink and other skating rinks in town.

Council Tonight

The city council will open the new year with a council meeting at 7:30 tonight. Only routine business is scheduled.

The courthouse building project is before the county board in a special meeting today. Supervisors are considering submitting the project to a referendum. At its November meeting the board voted to build, but the special meeting was called upon a petition signed by 29 supervisors.

Miss Irene Skutley, new home economics agent, will begin her duties some time this month.

Jan. 18, 19 and 20 are the dates of the book sale sponsored annually by the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women to benefit its scholarship fund.

The public schools' holiday vacation will end Monday, Jan. 8. Some of the parochial schools in the city will resume classes later this week.

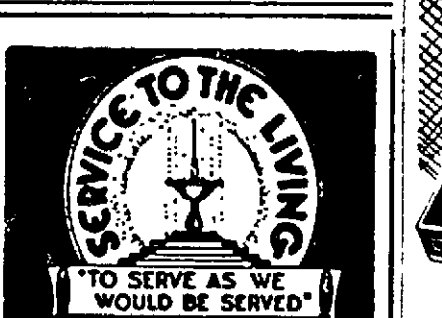

Gallagher Is Named to National Committee

William U. Gallagher, superintendent of the Appleton purification plant, has been appointed to the committee on standards for the administration of water purification plants of the American Water Works association. The appointment, made by the national officers, was announced today.

Gallagher will serve on the committee with nine other water plant heads from all parts of the United States and Canada. Edward S. Hopkins, Baltimore, is chairman of the committee.

APPLIES FOR PERMITS

Nan Schmidt, 211 S. Walnut street, has applied for a license to operate a tavern at the same address, according to Carl J. Becker, city clerk. She applied for both beer and liquor permits. The requests will be considered by the license committee of the city council.

who were trapped in an apartment above the Argus newspaper.

The women, Mrs. A. R. Hoffman and Mrs. Myron Owens, were setting type when flames broke out in the 90-year-old building. They dashed upstairs where they picked up the infant daughter of Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Owens' two children and carried them to safety.

The plant was destroyed.

COUPLE BURNS TO DEATH

Decatur, Ill.—(U)—An elderly couple was burned to death early today and two others were burned seriously when Decatur's third major fire of 1940 destroyed a two-story frame building.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bafford were killed and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sargent were injured seriously when the building, partly occupied by a garage, burned. The two couples had been living together on the second floor.

The Sargents escaped through a hole in the roof in weather one degree below zero. Mr. Sargent was dragged to the roof by his wife and suffered a broken ankle when he dropped to the ground.

The Elks Country club was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight Jan. 1 and a church was almost destroyed at noon the same day.

Chicago—(U)—Twenty persons, most of them clad only in night clothes, were forced outdoors in 12-degree weather early today by fire which swept their dwellings in the 1500 block of W. Chicago avenue.

Twelve persons, including a 2-year-old boy, were driven to the street in nightclothes by a fire in a three-story apartment building at 7315 Yates avenue, on the south side.

Council Debates Power of Police, Fire Commission

Referendum Proposals Must Come From People, Mayor Explains

New London—The question of a referendum vote of the people at the spring election to decide whether the New London police and fire commission should continue to serve its present powers or the work be returned to the control of the common council was the principal subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the council at the council chambers Tuesday evening.

Such action, Mayor E. W. Wendlandt pointed out to the aldermen, must originate among the citizenry as no city official is permitted publicly to promote a referendum. To secure a referendum would require circulation of a petition signed by voters representing at least 20 per cent of the number of ballots cast for governor at the last election.

The question has arisen as the result of friction between the two bodies in the matter of purchases, the commission having been granted through a previous referendum a number of years ago, the unrestricted power to make purchases and expenditures, within its budget, without any approval or authority from the council. Also the power now vested in the commission removes the mayor as executive head of the fire department and technically would prevent him from ordering precautionary measures during an emergency. However, he still may serve as director of police over the chief in matters of riot or violence.

Situation Unusual

Aldermen pointed out that New London is one of only two cities in the state of Wisconsin which operate under the present set-up. Revoking of the referendum would return the authority of purchases and personnel appointments to the council, retaining the commission more as an advisory and regulating body. Aldermen also claimed that they are more closely associated with the work of the several departments and better qualified to know and fill their needs.

Reports of Victor Thomas, city building inspector, and Frank Longrie, wood lot foreman, were accepted and the time of payment of a loan from the city industrial fund to the Bumps Bowly Candy company for $100 was extended 90 days. Longrie reported 960 cords of wood cut from the Cyrus Belonger lot during the period from Nov. 27 to Dec. 23 with 23 men at work on the relief project.

Cagers Drill for Tilt With DePere

Conference Game Will be Played at New London Friday Night

New London—New London High school basketball players broke off a week's vacation rest and returned to the high school court this afternoon for heavy scrimmage practice in preparation for their meeting with West DePere here Friday night. Coach Harold Isaacson cut short his holiday vacation to return to school today for the practice session.

A victory for the Red and White seems in order but not a certainty. While the Phantoms have lost all three games, they have been stacked against the toughest in the conference, Shawano, Neenah and Kaukauna. New London has lost to Neenah and Shawano and can claim only Clintonville as a conference victim.

A preliminary between the reserve squads will be played at 7:15 with the regular game scheduled at 8:15.

Pocketed Pipe Causes $10 Apartment Blaze

New London—Fire believed to have started from a pocketed smoking pipe destroyed some clothing and caused about $10 damage to room furnishings in the apartment of John Dickinson at the R. C. Dauterman residence, 106 W. Wolf avenue, at 12:30 Tuesday morning. Smoke led to the discovery of the blaze and firemen were called.

A chimney fire at the Arnold Egink home, 1820 S. Pearl street, was extinguished by the department at 7:45 Tuesday evening. No damage resulted.

A false alarm blew at 4:10 Tuesday afternoon when the fire whistle tripped without cause.

Driver Pleads Guilty To 2 Traffic Charges

New London — Everett Schmidt, 30, route 3, New London, pleaded guilty of reckless driving and of speeding Sunday morning when he was arraigned before Justice Fred J. Rogers in police court Tuesday. He paid fines of $10 for reckless driving, $5 for speeding, and costs totaling $20.45. His driver's license was revoked for six months.

Schmidt was arrested by New London police and charged with driving 60 miles per hour on Shawano street about 1:45 Sunday morning.

Rotarians at Clintonville Hear Address by W. A. Olen

Clintonville — Walter A. Olen, president and general manager of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, was the speaker at the Rotary club Tuesday noon at Hotel Marston at the first meeting of the club in the new year. Taking as his theme the story of the "Lamp Lighter" to whom people would inquire, "What of the night? Is all well with us?" Mr. Olen predicted the further strengthening of our frontiers of achievement during the coming year if we recognize our responsibilities to society.

"The dictators of whom we hear so much these days," the speaker said, "are a product of their carelessness democracies by a citizenry that would rather repudiate debts than to make the sacrifices to pay them." Mr. Olen said that leaders in these countries promise a method of avoiding their responsibilities, offering their security at the sacrifice of their liberties.

This year the nation must decide on new public officials, and the speaker wondered whether the selection would be made by wise men, or by the self-constituted individuals who are seeking gain through political leadership. "Research," the speaker said, "holds the greatest future for industry, for research

2 New London Women Return Home After Visit in Minnesota

New London—Mrs. George Demming and Mrs. E. C. Jost returned home today after visiting since Christmas at the W. E. Hannaford home at Virginia, Minn.

Mrs. Theresa Abraham, 504 E. Beacon avenue, left Monday to spend the next two months visiting with her daughters at Milwaukee and Chicago.

11 New Residences Erected During Year Estimated at $27,900

New London — Residence building in New London reached a new high for recent years during 1939 when 11 homes were built at a total cost of $27,900, according to the annual report of Victor Thomas, city building inspector. Building activities exceeded the slight spurt in 1937 when $24,700 was spent on eight new homes.

Total building for the year 1939 amounted to $32,520 with five new store buildings accounting for $20,200. Thirteen private garages were erected at an outlay of $1,385 and 18 permits were issued for miscellaneous construction, additions and improvements costing $3,035.

Fees totaling $97 were deposited with the city treasurer for 47 permits.

N. R. Demming Named Census Enumerator

New London — N. R. Demming of this city has been appointed federal census enumerator for the 1940 census and began work on the project Tuesday. A count of businesses and manufacturers will be made first, with the census of population, agriculture and housing scheduled to begin April 1. Demming will take the business and industrial census of all towns and villages in the southern half of Waupaca county.

Poultry Clinic Will Be Conducted Tonight

New London — A poultry disease clinic for agriculture teachers, veterinarians, hatchery men and feed dealers in Waupaca county will be held at Washington High school here at 7:30 this evening.

Dr. B. A. Bechtel and J. B. Hayes, poultry specialists from the college of agriculture at Madison, will conduct the clinic and will post-auling chickens which are brought in by patrons. The clinic was arranged by L. M. Warner and Victor Quick, county agent, through the University of Wisconsin extension service.

High Life Squad Takes Top Place In Classic Loop

Narrowly Misses League Records in Wins Over Clintonville

New London — Miller High Life keggers topped the Waupaca County Classic bowling league when they tripped Petcka's Bars two games at Clintonville last night and the New London Knapstein Brews took two games from the contending Lobers Autos of Waupaca on Prah's alleys here.

The High Lifes cracked a 2,830 pin total and 1,015 game, missing league records by only one and two pins, respectively, and beating Petckas 859, 1015, 955 to 957, 922 and 916. Erv Buclof paced the winners with a 608 series in lines of 214, 191 and 203 while Sylvester Stern cracked 590 with 224, 165 and 201. Art Lash rolled 559. K. Miller of Clintonville pounded a 613 total with games of 244, 178 and 191. Forest Schaefer collected 587 and Rex Michaelis knocked over a 572.

The Brews at home won over Lobers 946, 813, 905—2,664 to 898, 171, 177—2,605. Keith Prah topped the locals with a 572 count on lines of 208, 174 and 190. A 548 total by Cook led the losers.

Tavern League

First half:	W.	L.
Franklin House	31	14
Heaven Hill Boys	26	19
Thurks Tavern	19	26
Sportsmen's Tavern	14	31

The Franklin House finished at the top of the Tavern league as they wound up the first half season but Mick's Heaven Hill Boys held team series mark of 2,589 and Thurks high game of 940. Joe McCleone of the Sportsmen claimed high single of 243 and Alton Hutchison had top average of the loop with 171 in 42 games. Charles Pfeifer maintained 170 in 24 lines while Leon Polaski managed a 177 average in only six games.

Last night the winners hit the Sportsmen Taverners for two games and the Heaven Hill boys lost two to Thurks. Best marks were Len Hoffman's 554 and L. Miller's 199 game.

Power Demand at Peak in December

Utility Reports New Record in Consumption Of Electricity

New London — Consumption of electricity in New London reached the highest in the history of the New London Light and Water utility during the month of December, 1939, a check-up of the figures by Superintendent Ray Thomas revealed Tuesday.

During the month 458,800 kilowatt hours were consumed. Consumption during the year 1939 exceeded that of 1938 by 494,000 kilowatt hours, 4,780,200 kilowatt hours being metered out during the last year.

Installation of numerous electric ranges, stronger commercial lighting, and heavier demands by industry are credited with causing the increase. The utility lists 103 more individual consumers on its books than it had in 1934 and an even greater jump in the number of subscribers and consumption is anticipated this year with the introduction of new reduced rates effective this month.

Water consumption for the year 1939 varied little, amounting to 117,304,000 gallons for the year. August was the month of greatest consumption when 11,708,000 gallons were used. On an average day when 325,000 gallons are pumped, the 74,000-gallon stand pipe is filled and emptied about 4 1/2 times.

Army Reserve Officers are Inviting State's Military Leaders to Appleton Party

WITH the appointment of three committees and the issuing of a number of invitations to outstanding persons in military affairs in the state, arrangements for the military ball Jan. 20 at Conway hotel are going forward rapidly. The event, which will be the first of its kind in Appleton in 20 years, is being sponsored by Reserve Officers association.

Invitations are being sent out by a committee which includes Lieutenant Colonel Olin Dryer, Kaukauna; Lieutenant William Donovan, Appleton; Lieutenant R. A. Kuehler, Appleton; Lieutenant H. J. McGinnis, Appleton; Lieutenant Carl Ahl, Appleton; Lieutenant Harwood and Lieutenant T. L. Knappe, Appleton. The ticket committee includes Captain Ervin Kurl, Appleton; Captain Chas. Stofurson, Appleton; Captain C. Bersteker of Little Chute, Appleton; Harold Hamilton and Lieutenant Garfield Le Croix of Shiocton, while the decorations will be arranged by Lieutenant Joseph Atchison, Lieutenant Shirley Parsons, Lieutenant Phillip Bixby, Jr., Lieutenant William Marteny and Lieutenant Orville Muenster.

Among those who have been invited to sit at the speaker's table for the dinner preceding the ball are Chief of Police George T. Prim, Judge and Mrs. F. V. Heinemann, Judge Joseph R. McCarthy, Mayor and Mrs. John Goodland, Major A. M. Mixson, National guard instructor for the 127th infantry and part of the 128th, and Mrs. Mixson, Major William Morris, instructor of the Fond du Lac sector, and Mrs. Morris, Major Thomas J. Poland, instructor of the Green Bay sector, and Mrs. Poland; Colonel Stephen A. Park, Milwaukee, past president of Reserve Officers Association of the United States and executive secretary of the Wisconsin department; Major Anselm M. Keefe of St. Norbert college, West De Pere; Colonel H. Clay M. Supplee, Wisconsin military area commander.

The Crystal room of Conway hotel will be decorated for the occasion with military and patriotic symbols. On either side of the orchestra stand will be palms and stacked rifles, and eight large American flags will be placed around the room. Red, white and blue bunting will be used profusely, and crossed rifles will be placed over the wall lights. The waitresses will wear overseas caps and the men at the door will be in uniform. Tiny lead soldiers will be used as place cards and favors.

Delt Alumni To Give Party For Dr. Hanna

THE Fox River valley alumni chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity will give a dinner party in honor of the Rev. John E. Hanna, chapter adviser for three years, at 6:30 Thursday evening at the Copper Kettle. Dr. Hanna, an alumnus of the fraternity, will leave Jan. 15 for the east, where he has accepted a new ministerial position. Reservations will be made to accommodate about 40 persons. Representatives of the Lawrence college active chapter of the fraternity, as well as alumni, will be present. Toasts and fraternity songs will be included in the program. Clifford Burton is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Schafkopf and plumpack will be played at the open card party of Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph's church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Those in charge of arrangements are Mrs. George Spoel, Mrs. A. J. Kranhold and Mrs. Anna Zickler.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vosters, 423 E. Harrison street, entertained a number of guests at a housewarming party at their home on New Year's eve. Cards provided entertainment. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Vosters, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Asten, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Asten, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Van Asten, Mr. and Mrs. George Fiebel, Lawrence, Vosters, Little Chute; Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schmidt, Kaukauna; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schuh, Five Corners; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Asten, Kimberly; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seidel, Appleton; and Miss Dolores Siebers, Kaukauna.

The Neenah-Menasha Emergency society will sponsor another of its series of winter dances Jan. 13 at the Valley Inn, Neenah. The first two were held at North Shore Golf club. In charge of arrangements for the parties are Mrs. James H. Kimberly, Neenah, and the members of her finance committee.

Lesser Installed as Brotherhood Head

Charles Lesser was installed as president of the Brotherhood of First English Lutheran church at a meeting last night at the parish hall. Others seated were Martin Gauerke, vice president; Ervin Mehlberg, recording secretary; and Harry Junge, financial secretary and treasurer.

The educational topic, "The Fathers of the American Lutheran Church," was given by Alfred Gauerke, and devotion was led by the Rev. P. C. Gauerke, pastor of the church. Edward E. Sager reported that no date has been selected for the Fox river valley Brotherhood clinic the end of this month or early in February.

Alfred Gauerke was appointed local membership chairman for the year, and G. A. Lemke was named inter-club relations chairman for the valley. Albert Roehm is local program chairman and Earl Ballard and Albert Baehler co-chairman of the sick committee.

For the next meeting Feb. 6 the topic, "Spiritual Life and Growth," will be discussed by Harry Junge.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Samz, daughter Beverly and son John, Clintonville, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hofmann, N. Outagamie street.

Miss Marjorie Weber, 117 W. Atlantic street, and Francis Elliott, E. Eldorado street, were weekend guests of Miss Grace Dixon and Orville La Marr, respectively, at Wisconsin Rapids. They attended a formal party New Year's eve, and on Monday were entertained at a dinner at the Dixon home.

For the third successive year, Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Landis, 16 Bellaire court, vacationed for two weeks in Louisiana recently, living for nine days on a fishing boat around Lake Arthur. They usually hunt wild geese and ducks, but this year they spent a great deal of their time taking moving pictures of the fowl in their winter quarters.

Mr. Arthur Klemp, route 3, who was called to Galesburg, Ill., Christmas eve by the unexpected death of her brother-in-law, Owen Buck, returned home yesterday. While in Illinois she also visited with her parents, Prof. and Mrs. C. L. Harbison, Maquon, Ill.

Miss Mary Ellen Pomeroy, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Hugh Pomeroy, N. Division street, left Monday for Chicago to spend a few days with Miss Betty Jane Green, a classmate at Beloit college. The girls returned this morning to Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn King and Miss Mildred Vandenberg, Chicago, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wildenberg, Kimberly.

Earl H. Probst returned this morning to Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, where he is a junior, after spending two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Probst, N. Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Forbes, 506 N. Center street, have returned from Milwaukee, where they spent the last 10 days at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Bert Zinns.

Mrs. Schlafer New President Of Social Union

MRS. WILMER D. SCHLAFER was chosen by the members of the Social Union of First Methodist church as president of the organization for the coming year at its annual meeting yesterday at the church. Mrs. Vern Ames is the first vice president, Mrs. Walter Fox second vice president and Mrs. Olin Mead assistant, while Mrs. Wilfred Harris is secretary and Mrs. A. E. Rector, treasurer.

The officers were installed immediately. Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor of the church, led devotions, and refreshments were served by District 1 under the direction of Mrs. A. T. Gardner. About 35 members were present.

Officers of Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church will be seated at a meeting at 7:45 Thursday night in the parish hall. Standing committees for the year will be appointed also. The catechetical period will feature a topic on "The Lord's Prayer."

Temple Sisterhood met for a luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Herbert Kahn, 4 Winona court. There will be a special meeting next Tuesday.

Mrs. Edward Deichen, Mrs. Alvin Greunke and Mrs. Charles Fahrner will be hostesses at the meeting of Ladies Aid society of Trinity English Lutheran church at 2:15 Thursday afternoon in the sub-auditorium of the church.

"Home, Foreign and Inter-Mission Work" was the topic discussed by Mrs. C. H. Zeidler at the meeting of Women's Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church last night at the home of Mrs. Albert C. Roehl, 812 W. Summer street. Mrs. John Wagner had charge of the magazine quiz.

If Your Child Has A NASTY COLD

Relieve the Misery As Most Mothers Do

Rub chest, throat, and back thoroughly with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warm cloth. Right away VapoRub goes to work to relieve the misery.

VapoRub brings double relief because of its double action. It acts both as a stimulating poultice and a medicated vapor. Its poultice action penetrates the surface skin; its soothing vapors are breathed direct to irritated air passages. Try it. You'll find that most of the misery of the cold is gone.

Outlines Monthly Course of Nature Study for Coming Year

BY CLARA HUSSONG

A year ago I outlined a course of nature study in the form of suggestions for field trips, one for each month, presented the first week of the month. Several readers told me they enjoyed reading these plans and carrying them out.

Most of the suggestions given dealt with familiar aspects of nature, our common birds, trees, flowers, insects and animals.

Today I am presenting a similar outline for 1940, this time, however, emphasizing less familiar nature subjects. Nature students, even those of long years' standing, often overlook interesting sights and happenings in the world of nature because of the rarity of their appearance, their inconspicuousness among more striking forms of wild life, or because less is said and written about these subjects. As before, each month's outline will be presented the first week of the month.

Bark Is Indicator
Many of us are good tree students in the summer time, when the tree is full of leaves, but in the winter we are sometimes at a loss as to a tree's identity, especially where there is more than one species in a family. The bark of trees, the appearance and arrangement of branches and, most of all, the winter buds of the tree are good indicators of the various species and these earmarks will be studied in January.

By February we should certainly have had a few snowstorms and a hike out over newfallen snow to look for tracks of wild animals and birds will be the suggestion for the field trip that month. Not all animals hibernate during the winter and the calm that follows a stormy period brings them out in search of food. A study of their tracks will tell you what animals abound in your neighborhood.

Have you ever seen the round lumps on the stems of golden-rods, round, nut-like growths on oak trees, leafy rosettes on willows and other unnatural plant growths? These are galls, unnatural plant formations which house eggs and larvae of tiny insects. In March we'll gather various types of galls and study the lives of the insects which cause their growth.

May Is Song Time
Warm April showers bring the first earthworms, or angleworms. Are they insects, and do they, like other wormy forms of life, turn to a flying insect later? We'll find out about that in April and we'll make a complete study of the life and habits of that familiar lowly worm.

May is song-time for birds and we will be hearing dozens of bird friends, but this year let's make it a point to find the haunts of a bird whose habits and song are strange to us. In some lonely wood we may find the cuckoo, hear its guttural croaking or see its carelessly built nest. The famous European cuckoo, whose voice is reproduced by the bird in cuckoo clocks, is altogether different in habits and song from the one found here.

Grass is so familiar to us, but how many different kinds of grasses can you recognize? In June many varieties bear flowers, in most cases inconspicuous in color and design, but flowers nevertheless. Let's get acquainted with grass, which covers all, as Carl Sandburg tells us in his poem, "Grass." After reading about the dust storms in other states, we are beginning to appreciate our heritage, grass.

Some plants are remembered by us because of the beauty of their flower or leaf, others we know better because they are weeds which we try to eradicate. There are a number of plants which are not showy enough to be generally noticed or to be depicted in wildflower books, yet not weedy enough in habit to call attention to their growth. During July, try to find a number of these forgotten plants and learn their names.

In August hike to a pool in a swamp or meadow, a shallow stream or edge of lake or bay. Looking on the surface of the water you will see dozens of tiny insects known by such common names as "water bugs," "skaters," or "skippers." Catch a few of them and study them, under a microscope, if possible. In the perfect scheme of nature, what part do they play?

There are land snails and water snails and about all most of us know of them are the facts that they are unusually slow creatures and that they carry their homes on their backs. There must be many more interesting facts about them which we can learn in September. Moles, voles and lemmings are the names of three small rodents whose habits will make a good study in October.

When blossoms become scarce in autumn many of us notice the rosettes of leaves put out by some of our common perennial plants. These are new starts for next year's plants and a November trip to find different varieties of rosettes will be the subject for that month. During December we'll scour woodlands and rocky places for hardy ferns whose fronds remain green all winter.

These suggestions should provide you with plans for many happy hikes, and that these plans all work out is the New Year's wish of your nature editor.

There are land snails and water

snails and about all most of us know of them are the facts that they are unusually slow creatures and that they carry their homes on their backs. There must be many more interesting facts about them which we can learn in September. Moles, voles and lemmings are the names of three small rodents whose habits will make a good study in October.

When blossoms become scarce in autumn many of us notice the rosettes of leaves put out by some of our common perennial plants. These are new starts for next year's plants and a November trip to find different varieties of rosettes will be the subject for that month. During December we'll scour woodlands and rocky places for hardy ferns whose fronds remain green all winter.

Army Is Having Difficulty Filling Recruiting Quotas

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington — Additional recruiting for the army, ordered by President Roosevelt when the European war began in September, is lagging and army officers feel that many unemployed youth are overlooking a good bet.

It had been hoped by December 31 to bring the total army enlistment up to 227,000. But as of December 15, the figure actually reached was 210,340. In all corps areas, enlistments were below quota requirements.

Special appeals have gone out to unemployed youth, stressing the opportunities in the army to learn trades and become motor mechanics, radio electricians or operators, or follow the older trades of bricklayer, carpenter, electrician, plumber and such. Army officers claim that opportunities are offered for thirty or more specialized vocations, at army pay ranging from $21 a month up to a possible $157.50 in addition to food, clothing, lodging and medical attention. Mechanization of the army has altered considerably the nature of the private's work and has enlarged his opportunities.

Another opportunity also exists for unemployed youth in the CCC which is now starting enrollment for replacements. Room for 60,000 to 70,000 exists. However inasmuch as 167,000 applications are on file, those who have not previously applied have little chance, although in some eastern states quotas are not quite filled.

That is due to the fact that in industrial sections where reemployment is occurring, young men figure that their best chance of landing a job lies in staying on the spot. Southern and western states are in almost every case offering more applicants than can be accepted.

Congressmen Speculate Over Reasons for Lack of Interest

There has been some discussion among congressmen interested in military affairs over the lagging recruiting for the army. At first thought it might be put down to lack of enthusiasm for getting into first line position with even the remote possibility existing of our getting into war. Talk of militarizing CCC has caused parents to discourage their sons in some instances, from going into these camps.

Yet there is no real evidence that such considerations have anything to do with the matter. CCC work is full of danger. Firefighting is almost as dangerous as a front line trench in war-time. CCC has awarded twenty-seven medals for valor to CCC boys who have risked their lives beyond the requirements of duty, as in saving drowning persons or rescuing comrades in forest fires. One of these afterwards received the Carnegie medal for heroism.

And if there is going to be any danger out of the European war, it will hit the navy first and the navy is having no trouble in recruiting up to its additional strength. Its goal is 145,000 enlisted men by June 30 and its strength now is 127,000. Recruits are coming in at a rate which will fill the quota unless there should be a lag.

One reason for the army's difficulty may be that the navy has the edge in pay. Secretary of War Woodring has been trying to induce congress to equalize it. Another is that it has the glamor of seeing the world. However the army offers service in Hawaii and the Panama canal zone. Primarily, probably the army has not yet sufficiently advertised the opportunities of learning trades and of the new fields opened up by mechanization. The old picture of peace-time army life was that of routine drills and waiting on officers, and it carried little to appeal to the high school graduate or other active, intelligent youngster.

I have heard some congressmen who are interested in all of this suggest that it would be an excellent thing if the house and senate military committees looked into this situation with the idea of seeing what might be done to publicize more fully the opportunities in the army and to actually improve those opportunities. The response of American youth to the opportunities in CCC suggests that they would do the same with regard to the army if they could be appealed to in the same way.

Ladies Aid Society to Have Monthly Meeting

Shiocton — The Lutheran Ladies Aid society will conduct its January meeting at the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Hostesses include Mrs. Louis Mielke, Mrs. Ed Conradt and Mrs. Clara Schubert.

Mrs. Lou Preston, formerly of Shiocton, is a patient at Theda Clark hospital at Neenah, having suffered a paralytic stroke Saturday night. Her sister, Mrs. Sadie Terrill of Shiocton, has been with her.

Mrs. F. O. Town was at Stevens Point Friday where she attended funeral services for an uncle. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Kling and son Clarence who spent the day with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brantz and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brantz and son Deane were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wyman at Oshkosh New Year's day. At supper they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jurek at Menasha.

FRIDAY'S GAMES
Shawano at Neenah.
Menasha at Kaukauna.
West DePere at New London.

NEENAH—A spectacular duel with Captain Harland Hesselman of Neenah and Bill Reed of Shawano, the two leading scorers in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference as the principals, is scheduled when the Red Rockets tangle with the Indians here Friday night.

Unquestionably, Coach Ole Jorgensen will assign Hesselman to guard Reed. He is one man who can do it and do it successfully. The contest will be another crucial game for the conference-leading Neenah quintet which will be after its sixth straight victory of the season and its fourth straight conference win.

A victory will give Neenah a firm grasp on first place in the conference standings while a defeat will sink it into a deadlock with Shawano. Last season Shawano topped Neenah out of the lead in the first meeting and then in the second game the Rockets cracked down on the Indians, 27 to 13.

Reserve Seats
In anticipation of an over capacity crowd, Neenah again has placed reserve seats on sale at Draheims and the Economy Drugs. School officials expect the second sellout this season.

Reed is leading the conference in scoring with 62 points in four games. Hesselman, who has played in four games, has counted 54 points.

In the five games in which Neenah has played, Hesselman has scored 67 points, while Buxton Kettering, forward, is second with 18. Julius Hertefeldt, guard, is third with 17. C. Kettering, forward, has counted 15. Richard Miller, guard, 14, and Ed Winkelman, forward, 11.

Neenah has defeated Appleton, Kaukauna, New London, West DePere and Menasha, winning from Menasha last Friday, 24 to 20. Shawano, which was defeated by Neenah, has won from West DePere, Clintonville and New London, the latter five by two points.

Coach Ivan Williams' second team also will be seeking its sixth straight victory and its fifth straight conference win when the squad clashes with the Shawano five in the preliminary game.

MENASHA AT KAUKAUNA
Menasha—Menasha High school cagers will travel to Kaukauna Friday night for their fourth Northeastern Wisconsin conference game. Both the Jays and the Kaws are tied for third place in the conference standings with two victories and one defeat each.

Both teams lost to the same opponent, Neenah. The Jays dropped a 24 to 20 decision last Friday night in a wild game. Kaukauna received an 18 to 15 defeat in a ragged game.

The Menasha team holds victories over Shawano and Clintonville while Kaukauna scored its victories over West DePere and Clintonville, two of the weakest teams of the conference. Kaukauna beat Clintonville 37 to 23 and Menasha trounced the same team 41 to 15. The Kaws won from West DePere 28 to 20 while Menasha humbled the mighty Shawano Indians 28 to 24.

The Jays again will run against a height handicap when they play the Kaws. Alzer, elongated center of the Kaukauna team, is their leading scoring threat and Ray Wipphich, Menasha star, probably will be assigned to cover Alzer.

Coach Leslie Ansdore called the Bluejays for drill Tuesday after a brief holiday. Henry Osiewalski, who was kept out of the Neenah game because of an injured hand and sore shoulder, probably will be ready to play Friday night and should increase the Bluejay reserve power. Dean Younger also will be back with the squad after a holiday trip.

Steve Owen Worries: He Has Too Many Stars

Los Angeles—Steve Owen has worries about his National professional all-star grid aggregation, but they are all nice worries.

The New York Giant mentor has to decide which 11 of 23 picked players from National league clubs will start the exhibition game Sunday against the champion Green Bay Packers.

"Take the quarterback post, as an example," he grinned. "I have Davey O'Brien, Parker Hall and Frank Filchock. I'll have to toss a dime to see which one goes in the starting lineup."

He has a similar problem at end, with Jim Poole, Perry Schwartz, Jim Belton and Jim Smith awaiting action.

OUTSTANDING HORSEMAN—by Phil Berube

Phil Berube

AS the new year gets underway, the winter sports enthusiasts who are happiest are the kids and the folks who skate. And they aren't as happy as they might be because it seems the ice rinks are always flooded about the time the youngsters wish to cavort. But it's good weather for rinks and if they can be built up before the snow comes along, chances are they'll stay the remainder of the season.

But it's really funny to see some youngster roller skating to the ice pond and then changing to ice skates.

Last Sunday the Appleton Ski club staged its first event when a skating tourney was held at Stroebe's island. The group is to be congratulated for going ahead with the project despite the rather short time to prepare. And then the weatherman didn't help any when he sent zero breezes to keep home some of the entrants and spectators and make others most uncomfortable.

There are many winter sports enthusiasts who'd like a good snowstorm, however. They are the folks who like skiing and getting around on skis whether it be walking or sliding or being pulled by an automobile out on the big lake.

And it doesn't take much imagination to know how the New London Ski club feels with a big slide aching to be used and no snow to put on it. There'll be a meet—if and when.

Lawrence college and Appleton High school basketball teams get back into the wars this week, the college at Northfield, Minn., where it meets Carleton, and the high school here against Oshkosh. In other words, both schools have their work cut out for them.

Although the timing and coordination and shooting of the Lawrence squad has been bad since the boys returned from Christmas vacation, Coach Art Denney still is optimistic about the Vikes. They may not be ready to click against Carleton and then again Marsh Diebold's team may be in the same fix and the contest be a toss up. Carleton has won from Monmouth in Midwest play but hasn't done so well against Big Ten competition as in former years.

Denney likes his squad better than any in several seasons. He had height and the boys are rugged. The first ranking forwards can shoot with any in the circuit and the guards are tough. Unless the unexpected happens, Denney feels certain the Vikes will have their best year in several.

Coach Myron Seims' high school squad hasn't much to look forward to in Friday's game. The invading Oshkosh five can shoot from anywhere on the floor and Erban, big center, always is a house afire against the Terrors. This year, with no height to stop him, he'll probably be a confagration.

However, the Terrors will give Oshkosh a battle, no mistaking that. They'll probably give the invaders too much of a battle and forget some of their offensive efforts. At any rate, it'll be a good game.

Little Chute A.A. Defeats Squires

Meets Green Bay Team at St. Joseph Orphanage: Score Is 49 to 34

Little Chute—The local A. A. cagers defeated the Green Bay Columbus Club Squires at St. Joseph's Orphanage Monday afternoon by a 49 to 34 score. The locals had a tough afternoon with the referee who delighted in calling technicals on the A. A. members and Duce Weyenberg was escorted to the showers after he blew up in the final period. The game was rough with 30 fouls being called on the squads, 16 on Little Chute and 14 on the Squires.

Bernie Bonzers topped the scoring for the winners with seven field goals and a gift shot for 15 points followed by Ernie Verstegen with eight points. Gerhart led the losers with 14 points on five buckets and four free shots.

The A. A. led 10 to 5 at the initial period but trailed 16 to 14 at the half. In the third period the winners scored 20 points to 8 for the losers.

The A. A. will trek to Manitowish, tonight to battle Huchausens Hawkeyes team. The Hawkeyes are the same aggregation which copped the

Bietila, Zoberski Enter Ski Tourney

Milwaukee—Walter Bietila of Detroit and Ted Zoberski of Ironwood, Mich., both members of the 1940 Olympic ski team, have filed entries for the annual Milwaukee - Oconomowoc Ski club tournament scheduled at the Devil's Hollow slide near Oconomowoc Jan. 7.

Bietila, a former member of the University of Wisconsin Hoofers club, will defend the title he won last year.

Entries have been received from the Gogebic Range club of Ironwood; the Kettle-Moraine Ski club of Plymouth, Wis.; the Tri-Norse Ski club of Wisconsin Rapids; the La Crosse, Wis., Ski club; and the Racine, Wis., Ski club.

STRUTZ whacked a 233 game and H. Brueggeman piled up a 607 series for individual honors during City Major league matches at Arcade alleys last evening.

Jenss Clothiers retained their league lead with a 2-game win over Mellow Brews. Irv Weiss mainstay of the winners with a 213 game and 522 series while Strutz pounded his 233 game. A. Meyer clattered 214 and 200 for a 563 triplet and Lessel-yong grooved 207 for the losers.

Adler Brau stayed close on the heels of the league leaders with a 2-game victory over Club 333. M. Kranszuch pinned games of 207 and 215 for a 592 series and C. Tornow topped 206 for the victors. Brueggeman thumped his 607 total with games of 225 and 212 and L. Horn counted 203 for the losing quint.

Blatz Pilsener won the odd game from Athletics as A. Ecker totaled 551 with a 212 game. A. Bauer singled 212 and H. Leopold scored 205. High for the losers were Leo Grig-haber and E. Brueggeman with totals of 503, the latter whipping a 223 game.

Aid Association of Lutherans downed Engineers in two games as Bob Nehls smacked games of 201 and 213 for a 605 series. W. Roblee rattled 224 and 205 and Bud Stach spilled 208. Tops for the losers was O. Baurain with games of 202 and 206 for a 586 series. C. Loeper adding games of 201 and 216 and Roy Hauert showing 203.

Texas Aggies and Tulane May Be Back In Bowl Jan. 1, 1941

New Orleans—Any Rip Van Winkle who started a 12-month nap on New Year's eve might awake and pick up just where he left off—in time to see Texas A. and M. in the Sugar Bowl with Tulane on Jan. 1, 1941.

It's just a possibility and not a prediction, but the teams that fought each other all over the lot Monday will be back next fall with clubs that might well repeat their 1939 records.

The Texas Aggies, who beat Tulane 14-13 after winning all 10 games in their regular season, left word behind as they headed back to the great plains yesterday that they might be even greater in the coming campaign.

And they backed that up with a reminder that eight of their regulars would return to harness.

Oshkosh All-Star Cagers Winners in Wild Game, 44-42

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
OSHKOSH—In the ding-dongest pro battle staged here this season, the Oshkosh All-Stars continued their winning streak and drove their way to a slim 44 to 42 win over the Philadelphia Hebrews, American league contenders, Tuesday evening.

Designated "ladies night" by the management, the contest kept the fair sex screaming all evening. The score was tied five times, including the end of the first half when it stood at 23-23. No more than four points ever separated the two teams.

Philadelphia jumped into a 12 to 9 lead at the end of the first quarter due to the inability of the Stars to find the hoop at close range—the local squad counted but seven times in 41 first-half attempts. Oshkosh sharpened up its shooting after the intermission and led by a 33 to 31 count when the horn blew for third quarter time out.

As a courtesy to the visiting team officials allowed each man six personal fouls but the rough brand of ball sent Gotherth and Wolfe, Hebrew cagers, and Barle, Oshkosh forward, out of the contest. The Sphas had 29 fouls called on them and the All-Stars miscued for 17.

Rosenberg, Hebrew forward, was high man of the evening with six baskets and three free throws, followed closely by Shipp, Oshkosh guard, who found the hoop for five buckets and four free throws. The Spha pivot man, Goldman, also finished in the money, counting 13 points via six baskets and a lone charity toss.

NEENAH ALL-STAR FIVE LOSES
A Neenah all-star team, composed chiefly of members of the Hewitt Rams, lost the curtain raiser to the Oshkosh Chris-Crafts, 33 to 28. The locals led 10 to 6 at the end of the first quarter but Oshkosh tied the count, 15 to 15, at half-time and forged into a 23 to 19 lead by the end of the third stanza.

Scoring honors were equally divided between Schmidt, Neenah forward who counted 13 points on five buckets and three free throws, and Montgomery, Oshkosh forward, who paced the Chris-Crafts with four buckets and four charity tosses.

Warren Kettering aided the Neenah cause with nine points on four goals and one free throw.

Norman Horn rattled a 225 game and Neil Davidson collected a 557 series for individual honors during recent Tap-a-Keg league matches at Eagles alleys. Heinie's Halves had high team marks of 1,009 and 2,940.

Halves upset Telulah Club in three straight games as Davidson poked his 577 series with a 205 game, F. Eichinger hit 206 and E. Davidson singled 202. High for the losers was Horn with his 223 game and a 497 series.

Forster's Eighths gained a tie for first place when they won two games from Dribble Inn. B. Latham led the winners with a 533 series while L. Kugler hit 508 and N. Boettcher grooved 210 for the losers.

Georgia Tech Coach Sees Passing of Grid Huddle

MIAMI, FLA.—Coach W. A. (Bill) Alexander, who has taught football wizardry at Georgia Tech for more than two decades, relaxed long enough yesterday to predict the huddle is doomed.

"The huddle will be discarded eventually because of the shifting defenses," Alexander said between congratulatory handshakes. "For Tech's 21-7 Orange Bowl victory over Missouri's Big Six champions."

"As it is now, a quarterback may call a play designed to go against a six-man line," Coach Alex continued. "When the team goes out of the huddle and up to the scrimmage line, the opponent may have switched into a five-three-two-one defense, against which that particular play wouldn't click at all."

Having time to go back into the huddle, the quarterback either must run the play anyway or check his signals on the spur of the moment, causing every man to change his assignment."

Connie Mack Won't Pick Yankees to Repeat as Champs

Philadelphia—(U-P)—Connie Mack, who can look back upon 77 eventful years, peered into 1940 today and decided he was not picking the New York Yankees "to win again this season."

"New York has a good club, but s. has Boston, Cleveland and Detroit, and with any kind of breaks they'll give the Yankees plenty of trouble," the venerable veteran of the Philadelphia Athletics opined.

He hinted the A's, who lost 13 games to the champs last year, might even cause trouble in 1940. "I'll say one thing, we're going to have an improved team over last year and the Yankees won't win anything like 18 games from us again."

"But," he added quickly, "you never can tell in baseball." The Athletics open spring training at Anaheim, Calif., Feb. 20 and play the opening game of a heavy practice schedule March 3.

SATURDAY'S GAMES
Cornell at Beloit.

LAWRENCE college basketball team will return to Midwest conference competition Friday evening when it battles Carleton college at Northfield, Minn. The Vikes will leave Thursday afternoon for St. Paul. Originally they were scheduled to play Stout Saturday night at Menominee but the game was canceled when Stout canceled its appearance here in December.

Carleton is tied for the Midwest lead with a single victory, 38 to 27, over Monmouth. Lawrence has played three Midwest games. It lost to Knox and Grinnell and defeated Cornell.

The Vikings are in good physical condition and Bob Smith, guard, has fully recovered from an ankle injury. The men resumed practice last Friday and worked twice daily except Sunday and Tuesday when classes were resumed.

In an effort to get the squad in game condition as soon as possible, there have been several scrimmages against alumni and Appleton groups. The starting squad has been Buesing and Lingle at the guards, Schade at center and Cape and Fredrickson at the forwards. The first line reserves have been Smith at guard, Kirchoff at center and Masterson at forward. The latter probably will see action there Friday against the Carls if Denney uses all available height.

Ohio, Iowa and Badgers Look Bad

Have Least Imposing Marks of Big Ten Basketball Entrants

Chicago—(U-P)—Ohio State, Iowa and Wisconsin haven't anything to fear from the Big Ten basketball race—they can't do any worse than they have been doing in recent weeks on the hardwood courts.

These three teams go into title competition Saturday night with the least imposing records of any conference team.

Iowa lost four of seven games Wisconsin, the only Big Ten team in action last night, bowed to Stanford, 39 to 26, for the Badger's fourth straight setback after two victories.

Ohio State, defending champion, won two early season games then fell before Kentucky, Pittsburgh and Cornell in succession. Tonight the Bucks wind up their pre-title campaign in a game with California at Columbus. All other teams already have completed their preliminary battling, with 48 victories and 16 defeats against outside competition.

Iowa, Ohio State and Wisconsin are the only conference teams which have lost more than one game so far with the exception of Purdue. The Boiler-makers, however, won six of eight games, their

Menasha Goes to Little Chute and Appleton To Seymour

LITTLE CHUTE—The Valley Hockey league will swing into action tonight with Menasha at Little Chute, Appleton at Seymour, and De Pere drawing a bye. The opening games were scheduled for last Sunday but as most of the ice rinks were in poor condition the opening will be held tonight.

Managers and captains are Tut Grode and Benny Plank, Menasha; Joe Van Thiel, Little Chute; Sonny Reider and Roland Tracy, Appleton; Lawrence Van Lanan, De Pere; and Jim Sherman, Seymour.

Wednesday evening games will start at 8 and Sunday games at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The league is composed of young players and will strive to stick to a youthful roster so as to keep up the interest in the sport. A 15-game schedule was presented at a recent meeting by President Joe Van Thiel and was accepted by the league.

January 3
Appleton at Seymour; Menasha at Little Chute; De Pere, bye.

Seymour at De Pere; Little Chute at Appleton; Menasha, bye.

January 10

Elynn's Beauty Shop upset Sunshine Florals in two games to knock the latter out of a first place tie. M. Mueller paced the attack with a 191 game and 520 series. E. Schmidt had 163 and 489 for the losers.

AMERICA OUT-OF-DOORS

COMMERCIAL IMPORTANCE OF FISHING

By Jack Ryan

ANY who are all excited over the pollution of their own favorite fishing stream or lake think nothing of the importance of fishing commercially. Fish from our fresh water lakes are still a big item in the food supply of the average family.

According to reports from the Bureau of Fisheries of the Department of the Interior, Chicago, alone, used 33,158,000 pounds of fish during the first nine months last year. The majority of these fish came from thirty states, Alaska, and eight provinces of Canada and were fresh water fish.

Lake trout and pike were the fish most popular to Chicagoans, the latter being the pike-perch or walleye. This pike is the scientifically named sauger. Markets just call it a pike and let it go at that.

Wisconsin is the chief source of Chicago's fresh water supply of fish and in eight months of this year furnished the middle western metropolis with the astonishing total of 3,904,000 pounds of fresh water fish. The Canadian province of Manitoba was second territory in volume with a total of 3,845,000 pounds to its credit.

If the Great Lakes and the adjacent bodies of fresh water are not kept free from pollution a vital food item will eventually be lost. Further if the proper steps to protect these sources of food are not protected by sound conservation methods thousands of dollars will be lost annually and the price of fish will mount to such a high point that the average family will have to do without.

It would be almost impossible to estimate how many perch are eaten daily in the middle west and the number of chubs that are consumed. The latter when smoked are called "trout" by the commercial fishermen. Few sportsman anglers are aware of the fact that the fish they rather despise when they hit their flies before a trout can get to them are the smoked delicacies that are offered in the markets along the

Boxing Must Clean House Or Take the Consequences

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Boxing is in a bad way as it goes into the new year.

It is staggering and reeling from the repeated beatings it took during 1939, beatings handed out by the very men who should be its most ardent supporters and who make their living from the game.

One has to go back a great many years to find a like condition. The present situation has been growing for the past few years, as is evidenced by such cases as have come to public notice—the Jack Torrance case in Louisiana, the Ad-

Foresees Change In Caging Rules

H. S. Game Should be Slowed in Syracuse Coach's Opinion

New York (AP)—Lew Andreas, who has kicked around this basketball game nearly two decades, figures the time is coming when separate sets of rules will be drawn for colleges and high schools to get away from some effects of the modern "horse-race" court sport.

"This modern game, with the center jump eliminated," the veteran coach of Syracuse basketball said today, "is like watching a table tennis match. The ball is always going back and forth with no stop. It's great to watch, but it puts a severe strain on the youngsters. Physicians have told us that."

The result, he added, may be that the rules will be changed for younger players, the high schoolers. He pointed out that at a recent meeting of educators an up-state physician reported tests showed the high-pressure action in present basketball causes increased blood pressure and strain on the performers.

"So it's altogether likely," Andreas went on, "that the center jump will be legislated back into high school ball to slow up the game somewhat and relieve this pressure on the youngsters. It isn't so bad for college players, largely because they're more fully developed."

St. John Cagers Will Oppose Oshkosh Five

Little Chute — St. John high cagers will be host to St. Mary's high of Oshkosh Friday evening.

The squad will be minus the services of Jimmy Koehn, ace forward, who has a severe case of tonsillitis and will be out for at least three weeks. With Kenny Nault back at Iron River and undecided whether he will return here, the squad will be handicapped.

Friday's game will be another nip and tuck battle as the locals eked out an overtime win at Oshkosh in their last meeting on Dec. 5.

Shores of Lake Michigan and other Great Lakes

Everyone should get behind any movement to improve fresh water fishing conditions, for the fresh water fish mean much to our commerce and to our outdoor sport. Sane methods will insure a good supply of fresh water fish for all time.

Wisconsin Quintet Mauled by Stanford

MADISON—(AP)—Wisconsin's disorganized basketball squad was defeated last night, 39 to 27, by smoothly functioning Stanford University cagers who coasted after taking a 22 point lead.

Six of the eight Californians called into action scored consistently from set plays against a faltering Badger defense. Coach Harold Foster used 12 Wisconsin players in a futile attempt to offset the Californians' rebound recoveries and better marksmanship.

It was Wisconsin's fourth successive loss in six starts this season. The Badgers open their conference schedule at Chicago Saturday with prospects of a mediocre showing against Big Ten teams.

Starting last night's game without two ailing regulars, Andy Smith, forward, and Ted Strain, guard, the Badgers lost two more veterans, Gene Englund, center, and Walter Anderson, forward, on fouls. They trailed from the start and made only two field goals in the first half.

Holding a 27 to 8 lead at the intermission, Stanford extended it to 32-10 and began to stall. Sporadic rally-

College Football Rules on Carpet

Committee Meets on West Coast; See Few if Any Changes

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP)—The college football rule book took a hammering from all sides today as the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association debated possible changes.

Convening in annual session, the group was expected to wind up its affairs tonight or tomorrow.

Present to offer recommendations of the American Football Coaches association was another committee headed by Lou Little of Columbia, but it remained problematical whether the rules body would adopt the grid mentors' suggestions.

Included in the propositions were moves to lower the goal post cross-bar and widen the distance between the uprights, which would invite more tries for field goals, and reduction of the penalty from 15 yards to five yards if a pass strikes an ineligible pass receiver.

Considerable agitation has been stirred up to permit passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, instead of five or more yards back, but it was not known how much attention this matter would receive.

The decade ends with the army of jobless some 4,000,000 larger than in 1930, although there was a pronounced pickup in employment in the last year. AFL reports show 9,471,000 unemployment last September compared with 4,770,000 in 1930.

Six big labor developments mark labor's history-making decade:

1. Vast unemployment, which still remains the nation's primary economic problem.
2. The most far-reaching labor legislation in history.
3. A large reduction in hours of work and substantial boosts in wage scales, although total payrolls declined because of unemployment.

WORKER & PICKET: Strife marked great spurt.

Increased union activity brought an epidemic of strikes, 4,740 in 1937 setting an all-time record. That was the year of the big "sit-downs," of bullets, brickbat and bloodshed. Strikes abated in 1938 and 1939.

Union membership was more than doubled in the decade. The AFL reports an enrollment of 4,000,000; the CIO claims 4,000,000. Some 400,000 others in the Railway Brotherhoods would make a grand total of 8,400,000 compared with about 3,300,000 in 1930.

Spelvin, or Somebody, Had an Awful New Year's Hangover

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — This body ain't alive. Hands cold. No sensation in feet. In fact, probably no feet at all. Can't say for sure if there is any feet. If there's feet and the body is alive why don't the toes wiggle when you wiggle them? Eyes shut tight. If it's alive why don't it face the world this glorious New Year's morn? New Year's morn. That's a hot one. How do you know it's the morn? How do you know it ain't four-five in the afternoon? The eyes won't even open to see if it's daylight. Maybe it's a thousand years from now.

What's this stuff in your mouth when you are dead? Feels like a pile of brush. Dry with bristles all over it. That's all they care, once you kick off. Stuff a hunk of doormat in your mouth and leave you lay. Maybe if you would hold a mirror over its mouth it would make mist. Who? Who maybe hold a mirror over what's mouth? This body can't hold any mirror over it's own mouth. This body ain't alive. Not a twitch in it. Those toes certainly seem a long way off. Way, way down there. Hyia, toes? You still there? Brain, phone the toes, see if they're still there. No answer. Okay. Cancel the call.

Well, Spelvin, here you are again. George Spelvin positively is going to sit home and read a book until midnight, then drink positively just one toast, then smash the glass and start the new year right. George Spelvin answers phone and says, no thanks, he positively can't join them this New Year's eve. What a liar that Spelvin was. Not so much a liar as just no character. No will power. So there he is at midnight, screaming like a tomcat and doing feats of strength. Telling those dumb stories over for the thousandth time.

Thousandth time. Thousandth time. Thelvin. Thelvin. And his patient, unfortunate old lady saying, "Dear, why don't you stash every other one behind the clock? You sure feel all right?"

Mr. Swivel Hasn't Heard It, So She Does

"Who me? I never felt better in my life. Now don't bother about me. Don't be counting drinks on me. Don't be a drink-counter, my pet. "Dear, please don't tell that one again. They've all heard it, I'm sure, and anyway it wasn't very nice."

"Some of them haven't heard it. You haven't heard it. Have you, Mrs. Swivel? Ain't really thithy. Just rough. There was two hillbillies and paw says'..."

Well, this is a break for her, Spelvin. Now, maybe she will meet some nice mug that really deserves a queen like that.

Spelvin, I suppose you realize you never made home last night? Or anyway that night. You know, New Year's eve, 1940? Your last night, anyway. Think back. You never made home. Remember you drove down but there is nothing in the record about any trip home. You must have folded yourself away on those people in their house. This must be a guest room. If the body had any life in it you could open one eye and take a squint. But this certainly ain't your own bed. Spelvin. This is some other house. Where do you suppose your loving old lady is, Spelvin? Probably home where she belongs and when you call up she will probably feel sorry for you, and make you feel more of a heel.

That Pick in the Eye Is Just Light of Day

But this time. That was the time you didn't come to. So they gave you the standard New 5 federal, complete with six hacks and a portable stained glass window in the parlor, price $600 and positively no extras, and much too good for a bum like you and now she is married again to a very nice, sober fellow in Sioux City. And your children, for the first time in their lives, know what it is to have a father with character and will power who doesn't sing those songs or tell stories for the thousandth time.

Oh, that was several years ago. The oldest one is in college now. They dropped the name of Spelvin, you know, and took the name of this nice, new, respectable stepfather.

Feel how cold the hands are. Nothing that cold can be alive. Maybe if they would shut the window if there was any life in the old body you could warm up and sort out sentiment and see where you are and what happened.

I think one eye-lid just fluttered. Spelvin. That pain like an ice pick in your eye was the glorious light of the glad new year. Yes, here you are again, Mr. Spelvin, and a happy new year to you. And now 'hoist that big stupid lump of meat out of there and get going, you dope.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

CHARLEMAGNE

King Charles was the son of a man called Pepin the Short. I do not have a record showing just how short Pepin was, but probably his height was no more than five feet and six inches.

Charlemagne talking with one of the pupils in his palace school.

When the son grew to manhood, he proved to be not a short man but a tall one. In fact, he was one of the tall men of his time, measuring about six feet and six inches! His body was well-formed; he was heavy without being fat. His muscles were strong and his mind was clear. People often spoke of the mighty blows he struck in battle.

During many of the years of his reign, Charles was busy in warfare. Because of the strength of his armies, he won power over Germany and much of Italy. He also fought against the Moors (or Saracens) in northern Spain, and added a small part of Spain to his empire.

Largely because of his victories in war, the king came to be known as "Charlemagne." This was a French way of saying "Charles the Great." The name is pronounced SHAR-lem-ane. The accent is on the first syllable, which rhymes with "star."

If Charlemagne had done nothing but build an empire, he would hardly have the right to the honor of being called great. As it was, he did other things of importance, and he stands out among the monarchs of all time.

As a child, he did not learn to read or write, and as a young man he was too busy at war to do much to master these arts.

When there came times of peace, he called scholars to his palace, and from them slowly learned to read the Latin language. In those days, and for centuries afterward, Latin was the common written language of western Europe.

Charlemagne also learned to write a few words, but he did not make much progress in this field. He felt that he had started to learn too late.

We may wonder why a prince should have been so ill-taught, but the reason is easy to find. When Charlemagne was a boy, it was not the custom in western Europe for boys to learn to read or write unless they planned to be priests or monks.

Thinking of the future, Charlemagne made plans for a palace school, and carried them out. His children, and the children of other persons in the palace, were taught to read and write.

Charlemagne also gave orders for schools to be started in many other places in France. He did not start anything like the fine modern system of public schools, but he did bring about a greater spread of learning.

Milwaukee Firm Given Contract For Power Bonds

Kaukauna Council Adopts 10-Year Plan for $140,000 Issue

Kaukauna — The common council last night sold the bond issue to finance the new power plant to the Milwaukee company, for $138,810. The $140,000 bond issue will carry an interest rate of 1 1/2 per cent, and will be retired at the rate of $14,000 every year. The bonds are callable after three years. The successful bidder offered more than agents of five other bond houses present.

Bids were taken also on a 5-year retirement fund. The First National bank of Appleton was high, offering the money for an interest rate of 1 1/2 per cent, plus an $850 premium, which meant an actual interest rate of 1.3 per cent. The council voted for the 10-year plan, however, to avoid the doubly heavy annual outlay under the other proposal. The Milwaukee company bid $9.13 for its successful offer, which means an interest rate of about 1.65 per cent.

Alderman George Luebke, chairman of the fire and police committee, told the council that the town of Vandenberg had approached Kaukauna in regard to fire protection. Luebke said the fire and police commission had met and decided that unless two more full time Kaukauna men were added to the force this could not be given. It was suggested that the towns of Kaukauna and Buchanan might join with Vandenberg in footing this expense. Luebke asked also that a more conservative use of the police commission be recommended by the commission.

Proposal on Rubbish
Joseph and Richard Lehrer wrote the council they were prepared to haul garbage and rubbish for $1.25 an hour, furnishing all equipment and paying maintenance charges, if they were given a 3-year contract. The proposal was referred to the board of public works.

Alderman Jule Mertes, relief committee chairman, reported direct expenses of $1,558 for December. Mertes asked, and the council approved, that a deficit of $23 in the Christmas basket fund be charged to the relief cost. Anton Berkers, good cheer chairman, reported 158 baskets were distributed this year, an increase over the 1938 number. The contract for a carload of sewer pipe was awarded to the Benoth Fuel company, low bidder with an offer of 21.9 cents per foot. Kaukauna Lumber company was second with 22.4 cents.

Reviews Year's Work
Mayor Lewis F. Nelson spoke at the meeting's close, reviewing the 1939 accomplishments of the council. He listed the beginning of the power development, refinancing of loans with a saving of $25,000 over a 10-year period, consolidation of the road districts with a saving of $1,700 in administrative costs, and a saving by switching the compensation and liability insurance. Other accomplishments listed by the mayor were the laying of a paving, use of relief labor to save the city money, laying of 4,500 feet of sewer and providing for the sequentennial celebration of the city's founding.

Conduct Final Rites For Miss Alice Conlon

Kaukauna — Funeral services for Miss Alice Conlon, 711 Lawe street, who died Sunday night, were conducted at 9 o'clock this morning at Holy Cross church by the Rev. A. Garthaus. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Conlon, Kaukauna; four brothers, Richard, John, Gene, Detroit; Jerry, Kaukauna; four sisters, Mrs. M. Jansen, Chicago; Mrs. Glenn Myer, Detroit; Miss Ruth Conlon, Chicago; Mrs. Leon Van Leshout, Kaukauna, and a grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Fell, Kaukauna.

BOARD ALLOWS BILLS

Kaukauna — Bills were allowed and other routine business transacted last night as the school board held its first 1940 meeting. Committee reports for 1939 were heard.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

OPENS AT RIO THEATER FRIDAY

Telling in vivid fashion the strange love affair that forms its theme, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" stars Charles Laughton in what is hailed as his top-flight performance. One of the few epic spectacles from Hollywood, and hailed as the most impressive, the colorful picturization features Maureen O'Hara, Laughton's personal discovery, who plays the part of the fiery gypsy girl. Laughton is seen as the deformed bell-ringer of the cathedral who saves her at the cost of his own life in the gripping climax.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Thomas Mitchell, Alan Marshall, Edmond O'Brien, Walter Hampden and Katharine Alexander head the cast, which includes 100 principal characters, while 3,500 players appear in the mob sequences.

Because of its magnitude the picture, which starts on Friday at the Rio theater, will be presented as a single feature with an added program of outstanding featurette attractions.

Kaukauna Squad To Play Menasha Bluejays Friday

Win Will Move Coach Krumm's Team Into Contender Position

Kaukauna — After three weeks of rest from Northeastern conference competition, during which time the Kaws broke even in two non-loop games, high school cagers will resume league wars here Friday night against the Menasha Bluejays. The visitors were not rated highly as the season opened, but have whipped Shawano and lost a close one to Neenah in games with the two quintets favored for the league championship. A win for Kaukauna will place Coach Krumm's men in a contender's spot, with only one defeat, an 18 to 15 trouncing at Neenah, against them.

The Kaws bounced back from a 30 to 14 loss at the hands of St. Mary's of Menasha to inflict a 25 to 18 drubbing on the Appleton Terrors last week. Kaukauna has now scored 190 points in eight games, with opponents tallying 180.

Bill Alger made 11 against Appleton and leads the Kaukauna cagers with 64, an average of 8 per game. Following Alger are Joe Bloch, 35, Karl Giordana, 30, Don Bielek, 24, Junior Swedberg, 24, and Bill Tessin, 10.

Krumm is concentrating on offensive drills this week, with night scrimmage against the reserves. The Kaw defense has worked well in recent games, allowing few shots from close in, and if a comparable attack can be developed Kaukauna will be in the running for league honors.

Kaukauna fans are hoping Friday's game will break the team's off and on record this season. Starting with a loss to Stevens Point the Kaws have alternately lost and won through eight games. A preliminary game between the B teams is slated for 7 o'clock, with the main game an hour later.

Fifth Anniversary of Marriage Observed at Combined Locks Home

Combined Locks — Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Solberg of Appleton celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary at the home of Mrs. Solberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Erickson. The party was held New Year's Eve. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wittman and daughters Margie and Clarice, Black Creek; Clifford Webber, Gillett; Chester Stecker, Center Valley; Lillian Woldt, Long Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. William Heinie and Mr. and Mrs. William Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dreger and daughter Kay, Combined Locks. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Beginning Sunday, masses at St. Paul's church will be at 7 and 9 o'clock. Confessions for the first Friday will be heard at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. St. Ann's Altar society will receive holy communion in a body at the 7 o'clock mass.

Mr. and Mrs. John Siegel and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Widenberg were entertained at a card game Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vandenberg. After the card game lunch was served.

Edward La Pierre of Superior is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weyenberg.

Harold Schumacher, who spent the holidays at the home of his parents will return to St. Nazianz Friday.

Miss Lucina De Caster is a patient at St. Elizabeth hospital submitted to an appendicitis operation last Friday and is expected to return home the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Williams and sons, Jimmy, Dickie and Roger and Mrs. Anna Williams, and Danny Widenberg visited relatives at Green Bay Sunday.

Three Kaukauna Ice Rinks Will be Ready For Skaters by Friday

Kaukauna — The city's skaters finally will get on the ice this week, according to Clifford H. Kemp, city recreational director, who said yesterday that three rinks were being flooded and would be ready by Friday. No skating will be permitted before that day, Kemp said. Relief labor is working 24 hours a day flooding the rinks to a 6-inch depth. The rinks are at Park school, Nicolet school and the ball park.

Hollywood—There must be more than shows on the surface in the face of Luise Rainer. By contract, she still has one picture to make for MGM. Apparently Luise is willing—even anxious—to fill that engagement; seemingly Metro has little intention of giving her the chance to do so. It has been more than a year since she last faced the cameras. Why?

Fidler

Certainly no one can find fault with her acting ability. Her record—two Academy Awards won in only eight screen appearances—tops even that of Bette Davis. If there is a grain of truth in the producers' contention that this industry needs capable actresses, Luise Rainer, of all people, should not be left to moulder on a shelf.

It's charged that she is temperamental. Perhaps she is—but since when has temperament closed studio gates to an actress of her caliber? I can name you a dozen stellar ladies able to spit more fire in a minute than Luise Rainer can manage in an hour. Studios put up with the tantrums of the others, consequently they should be able to survive Rainer's milder outbursts.

I think the real reason for Metro's lies in the fact that two or three of her pictures failed to make big profits. But why should she be blamed? Were the stories perfect? Was the direction beyond criticism? Was she the only player in the cast?

Idol Chatter: I never see a picture of a diaper-clad baby without thinking of Dorothy Lamour. In need of a good picture to bolster fading prestige, Warner Baxter, every stroll down the boulevard is a personal appearance tour for John Carradine. I'm hungry enough for a Janet Gaynor picture to welcome her back—even if she wears her husband's exotic dress creations. Wonder how many W. B. employees, in a secret poll, would vote for Ann Sheridan's "Oomph?" Hollywood's ideal "family" man: Russell Gleason—featured in both the Jones and Higgins family series. What a hotel manager was lost when Ty Power turned actor—he never forgets a name.

The Hollywood Parade: Margaret Sullivan: With typical feminine inconsistency, Miss Sullivan recently refused to buy a horse at auction because the price was too high—then, deciding she must have it, traced the animal, via three buyers, to a Salinas, California, ranch and paid twice as much. . . Imboden Parrish, leading man: To Mr. Parrish goes credit for one of the most practical suggestions of the month—that a calendar for the fair weather friends of Hollywood's stars, with each celebrity's next option date ringed in red. . . Arthur Murray, dance maestro and wit: Mr.

Murray, the father of twins, is inclined to believe the stork legend—at least, the bird that brought the babies had a very big bill.

Since fellow-columnist Sid Skolsky is too modest to print the cutest saying of his four-year-old daughter Steffi, who's making her screen debut in "I Was an Adventuress," I'll do it. Before signing her, director Gregory Ratoff chatted with her for some minutes, obviously trying to make up his mind. Steffi bent him to the punch. Turning to her papa, she said decisively: "I think Mr. Ratoff and I will get along all right!"

Kimberly—With Joseph Mennen leaving the volunteer fire department because of retirement age this week, the organization now has four members on the honor roll: Mr. Mennen, Emil Brei, John Fox and M. Vander Velden. Mr. Mennen will receive an honorary gold badge from the department this month.

John Fiers, Walnut street, succeeds Mr. Mennen which brings the departments quota back to 23 men. They are classified as chief, assistant chief, second chief, captains, hosemen, ladder men, rescue squads, truck drivers and electricians. The organization is supervised by the police and fire commission, appointed by the village board.

The department is made up of various kinds of workers. When the siren shrieks, electricians drop their wrenches, store clerks bolt from behind counters, office workers rush from their work. They all dash to the engine house and in a few seconds time the entire group are in action. It is the boast of Fire Chief Alex Malcom that the first truck usually roars out of the station in less than a minute after the alarm is sounded.

Menasha Council Begins New Year In Quiet Session Aldermen Defer Action On Proposed Change In Assessor Setup

Menasha — The Menasha council opened the new year with a 30-minute session Tuesday night at which chiefly routine business was transacted. Most of the 30 minutes was occupied with reading of minutes and bills. The aldermen deferred action on the proposed change from part-time assessors to a full-time assessor.

Aldermen John R. Scanlon presented a form for the use of assessors which he declared was highly satisfactory. However, because of the large amount of information required, Scanlon suggested that the matter be discussed at a committee of the whole session. He said that it would be impossible to complete the information cards in time for the next assessment.

The council rejected all bids received for a new police squad car and adopted the motion of Alderman Walter O'Brien, chairman of the police committee, to reconvene the present car. Only two bids were received, both totaling $365. They were from the Gibson Chevrolet company and Nelson-Kruse Motor company.

O'Brien declared the city was not getting a fair allowance for the old car. He estimated that new tires would cost $60 and that the car could be overhauled and put into condition for $75 to $95. He also said that winter was a poor time to break in a new car and suggested that the city advertise in June. The council rejected all bids for a new car at the last regular meeting in December.

The police committee will take charge of repairing the car and work will be done by the city mechanic.

Wants School Bus
Alderman William Karrow requested bus transportation for Third ward children to the high school, a subject which he introduced last year. Karrow declared that the only way the council got any action out of the board of education was to go on record and ask for items. He said nothing had been done by the board on the request last year and asked that the matter be introduced once more.

The two Third ward aldermen, Karrow and John R. Pinkerton, were named to confer with F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools, and the board of education on the matter. Karrow said that 128 Third ward youngsters attended high school last year. He also said that it was two miles to the school and that it was too far to walk.

He reviewed the arrangements in Menasha by which the children pay 30 cents a week for transportation to school for 10 weeks, starting in January. He suggested that stops could be made at the Memorial building, Nicolet school, and Libertyville to pick up children.

Knute Ellingboe, building and plumbing inspector, reported that he issued seven sewer, 12 plumbing and four building permits during December. During the month he made 17 sewer, 21 plumbing, and 26 building inspections. Arthur Goesser, 641 Tayco street, was granted a beverage operators license.

Prepare Ice Rinks For Use in Menasha
Menasha — Skating rinks in Menasha are being prepared by street department employees under the direction of Peter Kassel, street superintendent. Three rinks already are available for use. They are at Seventh and DePere streets, at the old high school site, and at Gilbert's pond. In addition there is a rink for small children at the Memorial building.

Work has started on a rink off Milwaukee street near the Laemmle-Fraser home and on another in the Third ward off Garfield avenue. They will be completed this week, according to the superintendent. William Karrow, Third ward alderman, reported that there is good skating at the foot of Nicolet boulevard.

The hockey rink also will be erected this week. It will be located on the Menasha slough near the city dumping grounds. The Menasha-Menasha hockey team has held two practice sessions but practice will not start in earnest until the rink is erected.

Twin City Hockey Team To Play Little Chute
Menasha — The Twin City Hockey team will open its season tonight at Little Chute. All members of the squad have been asked to meet at 7 o'clock tonight at Draheim's Neenah, for transportation to Little Chute.

The Neenah-Menasha entry in the league will enter the game short of practice as only two practice sessions have been possible because of ice conditions and lack of a rink. Bernard Blank, Neenah, and Carleton Grode, Menasha, are managers of the team.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and display advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street, and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for display advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or telephoned. Orders for classified advertising should be placed by telephoning 543 in Appleton, and the cost of the telephone call will be rebated. The Twin Cities office closes at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Sex Education Expert Will be Club Speaker

Menasha — Mrs. Frances Bruce Strain, author of "New Patterns in Sex Teaching" and nationally known authority on sex education, will be guest speaker at the 2:30 Friday afternoon meeting of the Menasha Economics club in the Elshir D. Smith library club rooms.

Mrs. Strain's first book, "New Patterns in Sex Teaching" won the Parents magazine award for the most helpful book for parents in 1934. Her other books are "Being Born," "Sex Education in the Home" and "Love at the Threshold."

Menasha Fire Loss In 1939 Lowest in Last Three Years

Total Damage Is Estimated at $9,500; Department Makes 91 Runs

Menasha — Fire loss in Menasha during 1939 amounted to $9,529, the lowest amount in the last three years, according to the annual report of Fire Chief Paul Theimer to the police and fire commission.

The loss in 1938 was $46,449.21 while in 1937 it amounted to $14,314.83. The department made 91 runs during 1939 and had two rescue calls. There were no out-of-city calls nor any false alarms during the year.

Fire loss responded to amounted to $8,674. Loss in fires to which the department was not called was estimated at $855, similar to the total for the two preceding years when it was $823.12 in 1938 and $826.21 in 1937.

Although there was a decrease in the amount of fire loss, there was an increase in the number of runs. In 1938 the department made 73 runs and in 1937, the department was called 103 times, compared with 91 runs this year. The 1938 figure was high because of two fires in rapid succession on the same night with a loss estimated at $25,000. Those fires were at the Menasha Building Supply company and the Menasha Mill Supply company.

There were no large fires during 1939.

The report of Chief Theimer for December shows six runs and fire loss of $20. There also was one rescue call but no out-of-city calls or false alarms.

Home Building in Menasha for 1939 Sets New Record

60 New Homes are Authorized for All-Time High in Construction

Menasha — Construction of new homes set a record in Menasha in 1939, according to the annual summary of Knute Ellingboe, city building and plumbing inspector. During the year 60 new homes were authorized while during 1938 only 47 were authorized.

The value of the new homes, however, is about $16,000 lower than those authorized in 1938. New home construction in 1939 was valued at $195,850 while in 1938 it was $211,850. The mark is higher than 1937 when it was $173,200 and in 1936 when it was only $150,349.

Total construction during the year amounted to $454,361, the highest total in the last three years. In 1938 the total construction amounted to $268,460 and in 1937 it was $293,605. The 1938 total exceeds the mark set last year but a permit for the new high school, amounting to $400,000, was included in the $796,079 total.

Industrial Projects
Large amounts of factory and office construction during the year swelled the 1939 total. Factory construction amounted to $136,000 and office building construction amounted to $78,100. In addition there was a permit for a chemical tank at $600. Store and restaurant construction amounted to $6,825 and St. Mary's parish received a $9,000 permit for alteration of the church front.

Leading in the industrial construction was the Marathon Paper Mills with permits for $100,000 and $75,000 for factory and office building and $3,000 for a heating tunnel. The General Chemical company received a $12,000 permit for construction of a factory, office alterations at the George Banta Publishing company plant amounted to $12,000 and the International Wire Works received a permit for $9,000.

Garage permits during the year totaled $6,125 in value, including 53 garages. In addition, a driveway valued at $500 was constructed. In 1938 garage construction was valued at $8,835. Repairs to outbuildings amounted to $781 in 1939.

Only four permits were issued in December by the building inspector but they included two new homes. One was issued to William Kellert authorizing construction of a frame dwelling on Brighton drive at a cost of $14,000. The other new home permit was to George Wiegand for construction of a home on Lake street at a cost of $3,000.

Frank Saeger, 201 Mathewson street, received a permit for a garage costing $75. Bruhl and Wickelmann received a permit to install a glass front at 445 Broad street. Estimated cost is $100.

Retired Policeman of Oshkosh Is Found Dead

Oshkosh — (U) — Fred Schwanke, 58, former assistant chief of police here, was found dead by his wife late yesterday in the gas-filled kitchen of their home.

Schwanke had been a member of the police department for 34 years until his retirement last March 3. He and his wife had planned to leave today — a trip to Florida. Gas was escaping from an open jet in the kitchen oven when Mrs. Schwanke found the body, Police Chief William Golz said.

4-County Police Radio WAKE Sends 14,000 Messages in Year

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh — The police forces of Outagamie, Winnebago, Fond du Lac and Waupaca counties made increased use of their joint radio station, WAKE, during 1939, according to the annual report of Frank Cartwright, chief operator. There were 14,078 messages transmitted last year compared to 11,553 during 1938—an increase of 2,545 transmissions.

Winnebago county led the field in the number of messages transmitted, 1,469. Outagamie county was next high with 276, followed by Fond du Lac county's 315 and Waupaca county's 215. Calumet county, a newcomer, reported four transmissions during the year.

Oshkosh police transmitted 4,517 calls during 1939 to outdistance other members of the hook-up. Fond du Lac reported 734 messages, Menasha 509, Neenah 487, Appleton 170, Kaukauna 5, Kimberly 4 and New London and Little Chute 1 each.

The radio helped in recovering 337 stolen automobiles, locating 191 missing persons, apprehending 200 criminals, 20 drunken drivers and 29 hit-and-run drivers. The station also recovered four stolen license plates.

A total of 3,167 station to station calls were transmitted, 1,080, general items were sent out, 591 general items were cancelled and 433 station resumes were given during 1939. The month of May reported the heaviest traffic, 1,371 messages.

County Gets Mill Property for Tax

Quit-Claim Deed Is Given On Portion of Wood- en Ware Land

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh — Earl Fuller, Winnebago county treasurer, announced today the county has secured a quit-claim deed from the Menasha Wooden Ware corporation for about half of the property lying between the canal and the Fox river and the Washington and Mill streets bridges.

The deed was signed by Mowry Smith, president, and J. D. Schmelein, secretary, of the corporation, and was offered in lieu of delinquent taxes amounting to $50,840 since 1933. The property, consisting of 14 lots and several buildings, is valued at $104,600.

The buildings include two power houses, a sawmill and a number of sheds, some of them now being used by other companies for storage. The company retained property valued at $178,270.

The tax deed committee of the county board will inspect the property next week to frame a report on its disposition. On the committee are Edward G. Sonnenberg, Menasha, Clarence Fisher, town of Rushford, and Walter Koch, Oshkosh.

Business Leader Gets His Most Important Job: Trying to Promote Peace in Europe

New York—(AP)—As President Roosevelt's personal representative to the Vatican, big, quiet Myron C. Taylor is headed for the public attention he has tried all his life to avoid.

The job is the second big step in the new career of public service the 65-year-old Taylor began after reaching the heights as a business man. And it's perhaps the most important job he has ever held.

Reared in the subdued atmosphere of the Quakers, Taylor quietly practiced law, quietly entered on a big business career which made him an associate of J. P. Morgan and culminated in the chairmanship of the U. S. Steel Corporation, from which he retired last year. Throughout the whole thing he sought no personal glorification. Whatever notice came to him came as a result of his business activities. His public pronouncements were always to the point, inclined to be a little bald and heavy, devoid of theatrics.

man, Taylor led—still leads—a rich and full life. In New York he lives on "millionaire's row" in the East 70's. He has a Colonial country house on Long Island, and a villa in Italy.

Plays and travels as much tennis as he can find time for, goes yachting on Long Island Sound, reads a great deal, studies philosophy, travels extensively. His name is associated with various charities and endowments. He backs the Metropolitan Opera financially, goes to its presentations. He has a small but choice art collection, in which Gothic items predominate. A member of many important clubs, he rarely is seen in any of them.

A warm, genial, interested host, he delights in giving large dinners at which his guests are served choice champagne, although he himself neither smokes nor drinks.

Taylor's conception of society is rather different from the one usually associated with a business tycoon. He believes in public relief on a national scale and in the responsibility of business toward society.

He advocates maintenance of the maximum domestic market for industry through a system of high wages and stabilization of employment. "The greatest problem of all," he says, "is how to protect the standard of living." It was Taylor who shattered the strong anti-union position of Big Steel by recognizing and signing with the CIO steel workers' union.

There is a close companionship between Taylor and his wife, who is reputed to share his social philosophy. The recognition of the steel union by U. S. Steel is credited in part to her.

Toward international problems, Taylor brings the methods of the businessman because "I have to, for these are the only methods I know." In the summer of 1938 he went to Europe at President Roosevelt's request to try to solve the refugee problem.

Recipe for Success

The diplomats who met with him at Evian, France, at first found him somewhat pompous. But he impressed them with his sincerity. The basis of his Evian approach was this: "There is much diplomacy in business, especially in selling. In both business and diplomacy you have to make it palatable, attractive, to the other man."

Now he is going to the Vatican to try to make peace "palatable, attractive" to warring Europe.

American Legion Isn't Pleased by Bridges Report

Commander Says Veterans Still Feel He Should Be Deported

Los Angeles—(AP)—National Commander Raymond J. Kelly declared today that the American Legion did not concur in the Landis report on the Harry Bridges deportation case and still regards the labor leader as "a menace to American institutions."

Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, acting as special examiner for the department of labor, found that Bridges was neither a member of nor affiliated with the Communist party. The department has yet to rule whether the Australian is deportable.

"That the determination of Mr. Landis was not in accord with what the American Legion still believes to be the correct appraisal of the evidence against Mr. Bridges is a source of disappointment to the American Legion," Kelly said in a prepared address to the Los Angeles breakfast club.

"We cannot but help lend encouragement to others of Mr. Bridges' un-American convictions."

Although the outcome of the Bridges hearing was "dissatisfying to a marked degree" to the Legion, Commander Kelly said, the organization's efforts "to combat and to eliminate, if possible, individuals of his ilk" would continue unabated.

The Legion, he added, would press for the enactment of legislation which would assure the deportation of undesirable and conspiring aliens.

Kelly said the Legion still believes Bridges "is an individual who in his heart is a servant of a foreign ideology whose object would be to destroy everything we in America hold dear by plunging our people into the tragedy of class warfare."

Du Pont Company to Award Fellowships

Wilmington, Del.—(AP)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company announced today that it will award six post-doctorate fellowships for research in organic chemistry and 20 post-graduate fellowships for research in chemistry for the academic year 1940-41.

The post-doctorate fellowships are for $2,000 each and the post-graduate fellowships $750 each. The university selects the beneficiary.

Fellowships in advanced work in chemistry were established by the du Pont company in 1918 to "promote the advancement of science and to cooperate with the educational institutions in their efforts to carry on advanced research work."

Awards will be made to 20 institutions, including the University of Michigan, the University of Minnesota, and the University of Wisconsin.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Governor Heil's abilities as a salesman and his personal charm will meet an acid test as he vacations in the south this week and tries to carry out his announced plan of placating some of the southern industrial representatives who have been campaigning against Wisconsin's heavy tax on oleomargarine, it appeared here today.

Evidence available at the office of the state department of agriculture indicates that there remains a concerted campaign in the southland, motivated principally by the powerful Southern Cotton Council, against Wisconsin agricultural and industrial produce, an aftermath of the bitter controversy in the 1939 legislative session when southern lobbyists tried vainly to obtain a repeal of the Cashman statute which imposes a tax of 15 cents a pound on every pound of oleo sold in Wisconsin, in addition to heavy license fees for retailers and wholesalers.

Organize Boycott

Newspaper clippings from the south reaching the capital show that southern cotton and oleo interests, and particularly the Cotton Council, are striving to organize a consumers' boycott against Wisconsin products, including such staples as beer and cheese, while others have talked about boycotting Wisconsin farm machinery manufacturers.

When Governor Heil recently sent Gov. Lee O'Daniel of Texas a 25 pound cheese as a Christmas present, Texas newspapers printed stories suggesting that Texans would buy more of the Wisconsin product if Wisconsin would repeal the "unfair and prohibitive tax on our product."

Governor Heil himself stands in a delicate position in the oleo controversy. Himself a prominent manufacturer of machinery and equipment, last winter he publicly called for the abolition of trade barriers between states, including the oleo tax. When a bill appeared in the legislature to repeal the tax, however, the governor failed to give it his support. It died an early death in the administration-controlled houses.

James Bestor, also 19, was sentenced a one to three year term on

What's New at the Library

Some of the government agencies which are devoted largely to helping people solve their problems, among them the departments of agriculture and commerce, bureau of education, federal projects and national park service, are explained in the new book, "The Government at Your Service" by Archie Robinson. The author, a newspaperman of many years experience in various government departments, has arranged the material by subject rather than by department, so that one can find in one place all of the services of a particular nature offered by the different agencies.

Resorts along the St. Lawrence river from its source to the broad Gulf of St. Lawrence are described by William N. Hughes in his book, "Dripping Down the St. Lawrence." He has delved into the historic past and sought the high spots of beauty along the way, interspersing his material with legends, anecdotes, bits of history and pen pictures of places worth seeing.

"The Geese Fly High" by Florence Page Jaques is a book of movement and action of the out-of-doors in the United States. Following the ducks and geese down the Mississippi flyway from Minnesota to Louisiana where the wildfowl winter, the author and her husband, who did the illustrations for the book, poled into the heart of the coastal marshes near New Orleans. For their open-air winter vacation they took an unusual route from the northern marshes of Minnesota, through Illinois, southwest to the White river bottoms in Arkansas, and further south to the Rainey Wild Life sanctuary among the Louisiana marshes. They hunted ducks in the river lake of the north, buttoned into a kayak and spent New Year's eve skimming through an Arkansas cypress swamp.

A volume entitled "Leon Trotsky Presents the Living Thoughts of Karl Marx" is among the new books at the library.

Everyday tools and easily available material are all that are necessary for the learning of bookbinding at home, according to "A Primer to Bookbinding" by Francis W. Grimm. It gives the elements of bookbinding so clearly that a beginner can bind books at home without difficulty. It starts with the simplest kinds of binding and progresses to the more elaborate types, with illustrations showing each step.

"Lands of Delight" by Eleanor Early is a sequel to "Ports of the Sun." This book covers ports to

Munger Holstein Herd Rates High During December

Average 950 Pounds of Milk to Top Seymour Association

A herd of 15 registered Holsteins owned by Willis Munger, Seymour, averaged 950 pounds of milk or 23.1 pounds of butterfat to take honors in the Seymour Dairy Herd Improvement association, No. 6, during December, according to Clyde Olson, tester.

A Holstein owned by Munger produced 1,587 pounds of milk and 22.6 of butterfat to place highest. The rating of other herds follows: Second, Lester Krahn, Seymour, 13 Holsteins, 686 pounds of milk or 27.7 pounds of butterfat; third, Herb Krahn, Seymour, 16 Holsteins, 686 pounds of milk or 25.1 of butterfat; Fred Krahn, Seymour, 30 Holsteins, 671 pounds of milk or 24.7 of butterfat.

Rating among cows follows: Second, Fred Krahn, Holstein, 1,776 pounds of milk or 32.6 of butterfat; third, Willis Munger, Holstein, 1,752 pounds of milk or 32.4 pounds of butterfat; Fred Krahn, Holstein, 1,457 pounds of milk or 31.2 of butterfat.

The owners of cows producing 40 pounds or more of butterfat and the number of cows follow: John Appleton, John Ebbes, Fred Hoffman, George Pootler, one each; Carl Mielke, two; Warren Barclay, John Finner, Lester Krahn, Fred Krahn, John Phillipsen, three each; Alvin Prellip, Roy Thomas, Herb Krahn, four each; Willis Munger, five.

Builders Urged To Streamline Their Industry

Need 'Most-for-Your-Money' Technique in Home Construction, Authority Says

Schenectady, N. Y. — The reluctance of building interests to adopt the streamline and "most-for-your-money" technique of the automobile industry is the reason for the apparent failure of low-cost housing to "click," according to Stuart Crocker, chairman of the advisory board of the Producers Council.

Homes, like automobiles, must be progressively better built and better equipped if they are to appeal to the prospective buyer, he said.

"People buy what they want—not just shelter, but well-equipped homes," Crocker declared. "The facts are that the public has never been able to buy so much for so little money as it can today."

Standards High

Asserting that one builder has sold completely equipped, modern homes for $28 a month, Crocker said the same price might be offered throughout the country if all branches of the building industry cooperated.

"We must not tolerate the suggestion that only by lowering standards and using second quality materials can we solve the problem," he said.

In support of his contention that a vast low-cost housing market exists, Crocker cited figures showing that 90 per cent of American families with incomes over $2,000 a year own at least one automobile. Only 51 per cent in the same income group own their own homes, he said.

Flays Chishlers

While 60 per cent of families under the $2,000 group own automobiles, only 38 per cent own homes, he added.

He complimented the American Institute of Architects for its expressed willingness to assist the Producers Council in a comprehensive governmental investigation of the building industry to weed out "chishlers" builders.

"It is our duty and the duty of industry," he said, "to increase production and lower costs by seeing to it that every house of $2,500 or more has all the things that men and women want when they seek new homes."

AVOID FOREIGNERS

Rome — Italian army and navy officers have been cautioned to avoid foreigners as much as possible, presumably as a safeguard against spies.

Unlike in Soviet Russia, where contact between officials and foreigners has been discouraged for several years, Italian officials have had many friends in Rome's foreign colony. But they are seeing their foreign friends much less frequently since the war.

Italian officers have been instructed even to avoid the cafes of the Via Vittorio Veneto, the capital's main street, where they might encounter foreigners.

NOW IT'S UP TO THEM

Phoenix, Ariz. — Two hundred Maricopa county farm boys have been set up in the cattle business by a Phoenix packing company.

With no initial investment by the youths, the packing company gave each a purebred Hereford calf on condition that the boys have their parents' consent to raise calves and that the calves, upon maturity, be sold back to the firm at the prevailing market price. The original cost of the calf will then be deducted.

On each boy's ability as a feeder will determine whether or not his enterprise shows a profit.

DEBTS ARE LONG

St. Joseph, Mo. — St. Joseph banks still are making good on scrip issued in the panic of 1907. Three cents, one for $1 one for 50 cents and one for 25 cents recently were mailed from Leavenworth, Kans., for redemption. The bank paid par.

'Miss Wilderness' Gets First Look At Civilization

Bellingham, Wash. — (P) — May Larsen is a daughter of the wilderness and she doesn't react to dances like the ordinary 16-year-old girl. With her two brothers, she had her first look at civilization here recently. The three had never been out of British Columbia wild Cariboo Trail country before.

Taken to her first dance, May, an expert horsewoman and rifle shot, later confessed, "Meeting a cougar on the trail takes much less courage than going to a dance. I just trembled all over."

May, with her brothers, Jack, 18, and Leonard, 15, gaped and gasped as they toured Bellingham. The youngsters got the most enjoyment out of riding in elevators. Invariably when the elevator stopped they'd ask the operator: "Did we go up or down that time?"

Frank Bacheller Herd Highest in Association No. 5

20 Holsteins Average 1,197 Pounds of Milk For December

The herd owned by Frank Bacheller, route 1, Bear Creek, had the highest average in the Outagamie County Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 5 during December. Melvin Haferbecker, tester, reported today.

Bacheller's 20 registered and grade Holsteins produced an average of 1,197 pounds of milk or 39.8 pounds of butterfat.

A cow owned by William Krause, route 1, Hortonville, was highest in the association. The grade Holstein produced 1,798 pounds of milk with a test of 4.5 per cent or 80.5 pounds of butterfat.

Other herd ratings in the association follow: Second, Gus Raiman, route 1, Bear Creek, eight Guernseys, 793 pounds of milk or 37 pounds of butterfat; third, Ed Vogel, route 2, Shickton, 22 Guernseys, 638 pounds of milk or 29.8 pounds of butterfat; fourth, Henry Oudenhoven, route 2, West DePere, 18 Holsteins, 863 pounds of milk or 28.5 pounds of butterfat; fifth, Bert Zobel, route 2, Seymour, 11 Holsteins and Guernseys, 622 pounds of milk or 28.3 pounds of butterfat.

Following are owners whose cows produced 40 pounds of butterfat and over, with the number of cows given: John Van Asten, four; Paul Kroes, William Krause, Ed Vogel, three each; John Coenen, Robert Paltzer, Gus Raiman, Alfred Techlin, Bernard Mares, two each; Chester Appleton, Mike Mack, Bert Zobel, Henry Oudenhoven, and Robert Murphy, one each; Frank Bacheller, 11.

Prices of Wheat Dip After Climb To Higher Levels

Quotations Move Uncertainly During Much Of Session

Chicago — (P) — After moving uncertainly above and below previous closing levels during much of the session, wheat futures weakened today and lost nearly 1/2 cent a bushel at times.

The reaction came after an opening uptick of about a cent had carried September contracts to a new season high of 1.04 1/2. May contracts fell to 1.03 1/2, off 1/2, and July to 1.03 1/2, off 1/2.

Corn held steady, aided by a firmer cash market.

Receipts were: wheat two cars, corn 49, oats 3.

Wheat closed 1/2 lower, May 1.06 1/2, July 1.03 1/2; corn unchanged to 1 down, May 59 1/2, July 59 1/2, oats unchanged to 1 higher.

Alliance Looks For Higher Tax Rates This Year

1939 Levies Slightly Less Than All-Time 1938 High, Survey Shows

Madison — Although Wisconsin taxpayers paid slightly lower taxes in 1939 than in 1938, the year 1940 promises higher taxes again, the Wisconsin Taxpayers alliance concluded in its annual review of taxation issued today.

"Total state and local taxes in Wisconsin during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1939, amounted to $183,791,000 or $62.72 per capita," according to the alliance figures. "This is a total only slightly less than the all-time high of $83.44 taxes per person collected in 1938."

"In addition to taxes included in this comparative figure for 1939, the state collected $15,576,667 in unemployment compensation taxes or about $5.24 per person."

"Per capita tax collections next year, in 1940, will depend largely upon the size of the general property tax levy made in 1939," the alliance stated. "On the basis of 69 counties which have already reported, 1939 county property tax levies which will be collected in 1940 will be about $1,250,000 less than a year ago. County levies usually constitute about one-third of the total property tax."

"Part of the decrease in county property taxes was made possible by increases in state highway aids granted by the state legislature. Although the towns, cities and villages have not yet reported their new levies, they will undoubtedly also reflect increases in highway aids granted these localities. In contrast to possible reductions in property taxes will be two increases in state taxes made by the 1939 legislature: these are the lowered exemption for the 60 per cent surtax on individual incomes and the enactment of the new state tax on cigarettes equivalent to two cents per ordinary package."

"State and local governments in Wisconsin have been reducing their public debt during the last seven years," the alliance also reported. "Federal debt, however, has increased every year since 1930. Special state building corporations created by the state to side-step the constitutional prohibition on borrowing increased their obligations by $1,167,091 during the 1939 fiscal year."

Dramatic Society to Be Sponsored by Y

A dramatic society will be organized among Y. M. C. A. members this winter, Homer Gebhardt, secretary of the association, said today. It will be the first of this type of organization to be sponsored by the Appleton "Y". Gebhardt asked members who are interested to talk with him.

DEBATE GAINING INTEREST OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Debate is coming to the fore as a major interest of speech students at Appleton High school. The squad has had a duel meet with Kaukauna High school and plans others with schools in this area this winter. The question for debate this year is "Resolved: That the federal government should own and operate the railroads." Left to right in the picture are: Edgar Hagner, debate coach; Harold Weiland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Weiland, route 2, Appleton; Beverly Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Olson, 721 S. Story street; and Lincoln Scheurle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armin B. Scheurle, 1321 N. Union street. (Post-Crescent Photo)

European War No Aid to Farmer, U. S. Report Shows

Washington—(AP)—The agriculture department, in a "progress report" on American farm exports since outbreak of the European war, declared Tuesday that many farmers see their markets being "caught in the no-man's land between the opposing economic barrages of the belligerents."

The allied blockade shuts American products out of German-controlled markets.

The allies are applying trade controls in ways tending to favor sources of farm supplies other than the United States.

Trade measures of European neutrals also are closing markets to American products.

Allied control of shipping space and bulk buying outside the United States later may adversely affect cotton exports.

The allied selective buying policy for wheat favors producing nations other than the United States. The same policy for pork products favors other nations, but Canada may buy hogs from this country.

Meanwhile, Secretary Wallace declared in his annual report that American agriculture cannot return to the "laissez faire" days when farmers were free to produce as they desired and government limited its farm-aid efforts to education and research.

The post-world war economic crisis forced the government to step in, he said, with programs designed to stabilize prices and adjust agricultural production to declining market both at home and abroad.

With agriculture still able to produce far in excess of markets and the European war threatening a new period of maladjustment at its conclusion, Wallace said the government's crop control procedure "almost inevitably has to be continued for many years."

SEC Upheld in Ruling By U. S. Supreme Court

Washington—(AP)—The discretionary power of the securities commission to make public profit and loss statements of corporations under its jurisdiction was upheld Tuesday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here.

The American Sumatra Tobacco Corporation, which owns about 35,500 acres of farm land in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Georgia and Florida had its stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange, had asked the court to overrule a commission decision to publish a part of the corporation's profit and loss statement.

Allot Funds for Badger Road Work

Federal Works Agency Provides $3,800,000 for Highway Improvement

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—Wisconsin has been allotted $3,858,056 for highway improvement and elimination of hazards at railroad grade crossings, the federal works agency announces. This sum is available from appropriations authorized for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1940, after deductions of amounts authorized for administrative expenses.

Expenditure will be under the supervision of the public roads administration of the FWA and in accordance with the federal-aid plan that has been in operation since 1916. Selection of projects rests with Wisconsin highway departments which will prepare plans, let contracts, and supervise construction, all subject to federal approval, it is stated.

Of the $3,858,056 allotted to Wisconsin, $2,771,243 is apportioned for regular federal aid, $361,466 for secondary or feeder roads, and $725,347 for grade crossings.

Highway funds, amounting to $156,000,000, for the entire United States were apportioned among the states in proportion to population, area, and mileage of rural post roads, it is said. Grade crossing funds were apportioned, one-half on the basis of population, one-fourth on the basis of mileage of the federal-aid system, and one-fourth according to railroad mileage.

The public roads administration was formerly under the agriculture department and was known as the bureau of public roads.
